

Wilhelm's Claim to Be People's Friend Disproved by History

KAISER LAUDS HIMSELF AS "PEOPLE'S FRIEND"

Exaggerated Ego of Fallen Monarch and Bid for Lost Popularity Show in ex-Emperor's Memoirs

The policy that kept in view the welfare of the workers unquestionably imposed a heavy burden upon all the industrial elements of Germany in the matter of competition in the world market, through the loss of some 1,000,000 men in the protection of workmen. This was especially true in relation to an industrial system like the Belgian which could, without hindrance, squeeze out the great bulk of the services of Belgian and pay low wages, without feeling any pang of conscience nor compassion for the sinking morale of the exhausted workmen.

Special pleasure was afforded me by the Kaiser Wilhelm Children's Home, founded by me at Albeck, which in peace times received many thousands of German children in each year, a large number of whom were poverty-stricken working people's districts in Berlin were accommodated in it, staying from two to six weeks. This home is still under the tried direction of the admirable superintendent, Miss Kirschner, daughter of the former Chief Burgomaster of Berlin, and it has achieved most brilliant results.

For the very reason that I have spoken of my quarrel with Bischoff as the result of labor questions, I wish to add to what I have already said about his basic policy. It is of doubtful value. Take the instance of the working insurance and the insurance against unemployment. In this case, he was impelled by nationalistic motives, but he also realized that it was necessary to protect a large element against the exploitation of which caused him to intervene with the full weight of his authority.

Some time around 1886, while I was still Prince Wilhelm, I had learned that the great Vulcan Works had been built into the fund marks with an exchange value of four for $1. They are now drawing their annuities in marks with an exchange value of four for $1. The exchange value of marks they receive has not been increased. An annuity which was sufficient to secure food and lodgings for a month before the war will not now purchase a square meal.

I heard a great deal about the system of old-age pensions while in Germany last summer. The workers' classes had won the fund marks with an exchange value of four for $1. They are now drawing their annuities in marks with an exchange value of four for $1. The exchange value of marks they receive has not been increased. An annuity which was sufficient to secure food and lodgings for a month before the war will not now purchase a square meal.

There is a moral in this which strikes deep at the root of the whole paternalistic system in industry. The workers' classes have no right to expect that their old age, in place of providing individually for their own support, will be supported by the state. As a result of this, the commissioners visited Germany, some of the commissioners of workingmen, among them Socialists, they visited the industrial regions, factories, benevolent institutions, sanatoria, insurance companies, etc., and were astonished at all the misery they saw. At the farewell dinner given them, the English leaders of the workingmen's delegation turned to Bebel and made this suggestion:

"After all we have seen of what is done in Germany for the workers, I ask you: Are you people still socialist? And the Englishmen replied: 'Yes, German socialism would be quite successful if they could succeed, after long fights in Parliament, in putting through one-tenth of what had already been accomplished years before in Germany toward bettering the condition of the laboring classes.'

I had observed with interest these visits of the English delegation, particularly at their ignorance of German conditions. But I marveled even more at a question asked by the English government, through the channel of the English Embassy, on the same occasion which between us was absolutely amazing lack of knowledge of the progress made in Germany in the province of social reform. I questioned the English ambassador, 'What is the English government doing in Germany, having been represented in 1890 at the Berlin Social Congress, must certainly have been informed, at least, through the Embassy, of the social legislation which had been put in a detailed way with the various social measures. The Ambassador replied that the same thing had also occurred to him, but that he had remained silent, as he had been told that the earlier records of the Embassy had investigated, whereupon it had transpired that the Embassy had sent the fullest reports on the subject to London, and that through its reports he had been fully informed concerning every important stage in the progress of social reform; but, 'because they came from Germany, nobody ever read them.'

He rang the bell and a servant entered. The Chancellor was furious; his eyes flashed, his fist came crashing down on the table.

"What do you mean to say that those shopkeepers would rather have their boats built in England than in Germany?" Why, that is unheard of! And is a good German entitled to fail for such a reason?" The devil take that gang of traders!"

He rang the bell and a servant entered.

"Have Privy Councillor X come here immediately from the Foreign Office?"

In a few minutes during which the Prince stamped up and down the room—the man summoned appeared.

"Telegram to Hamburg, to our envoy—the Lord in Bremen is to have its new ship built by the Vulcan Company in Stettin."

The Privy Councillor vanished in a swirl of red coat-tails sticking straight out behind him.

The Prince turned to me and said: "I am greatly obliged to you. You have done the Fatherland, and also myself, an important service. These ships will be built better. It was a good emergency. I hastened to Prince Bischoff and laid before him the concern, however, seldom built the condition of the laboring classes."

When I, at the request of the newly formed Imperial Automobile Club, took him to my residence, I accepted an invitation to a luncheon in the beautiful room of the club, built by Ihne. In addition to magnates like the Duke of Ratibor, there were a number of gentlemen from Berlin's highest financial circles, some of whom behaved rather wildly. moved I took the wreath and expressed my pleasure at receiving my first laurels, without the shedding of a drop of blood, from the hands of honest German workmen.

That was in the year 1884. In those days the German laboring classes knew how to appreciate the blessing of labor.

most should provide means of livelihood for those whom they left behind. The suggestion met with unanimous approval, and the fund had most excellent results. Later on I made the proposal to the secretary of something similar for the skippers and pilots station at the Imperial Yacht Club at Kiel.

This home is still under the tried direction of the admirable superintendent, Miss Kirschner, daughter of the former Chief Burgomaster of Berlin, and it has achieved most brilliant results.

As a result of this, the legislation is to use a special method adopted by German industry in the interest of world competition; it alienated many big leaders of industry.

From their point of view, which was quite natural, the portion of the land must always bear in mind the welfare of the whole nation; therefore, I went my way unswervingly.

These workers, on the other hand, who blindly followed the Socialist leaders gave me no word of thanks for the protection created for them, nor for the work done. Between them and me lies the motto of the Hohenzollerns: "Suum cuique." That means "To each his own"—not as the Social Democrats would have it: "To every one the same."

I also harbored the idea of preventing to some extent competition in the industrial works of the European continent, by bringing about a quota-fixing in foreign lands, thereby facilitating production and making possible a healthier mode of life for the working classes.

There is great significance in the impression which foreign workers got in studying Germany's social legislation. A few years before the war people in England, under the leadership of the Labor party, were causing trouble, to the conviction that greater care must be taken of the workers. As a result of this, commissions visited Germany, some of the commissioners of workingmen, among them Socialists, they visited the industrial regions, factories, benevolent institutions, sanatoria, insurance companies, etc., and were astonished at all the misery they saw. At the farewell dinner given them, the English leaders of the workingmen's delegation turned to Bebel and made this suggestion:

EMPIRE STATE POLITICS NOW AT BOILING POINT

Republican Convention Opens in Albany Today; Democrats at Syracuse Tomorrow

BY LOUIS SEIBOLD
(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)

ALBANY (N. Y.) Sept. 26.—At the capital of the Empire State and at Syracuse, four hours away, two old-style political conventions are attracting Republican and Democratic adherents of the State machines.

The Republican event, which begins tomorrow, will, from present indications, be a comparatively tame affair; the Democratic function a Kilkenny cat row between two aggressive factions. The Republican State convention, heralded the day before yesterday as "out a horse," will nominate Gov. Miller and Senator Calder, endorse the Harding administration, and attempt to make the followers of the party believe that it is not black as the Democrats paint it.

SMALL BATTLES

There are one or two minor contests, but the main task of the construction process necessary to the upholding of the party through the infusion of new blood," as the dominant group of leaders explain it. There is some opposition to the renomination of Senator Calder for reasons that are of local fabrication and concern. Opposition to the Senator seems to be based on the idea that he does not measure up to the standards set by Root, Depew and Wade.

Up to a few weeks ago party leaders who were operating on the "open caucus" idea favored the setting aside of Sen. Calder. They prospected the ground for a suitable man to pit against him. Many of them favored the nomination of young Theodore Roosevelt.

The decision of the American Society of the Navy was not entirely subsidiary, but the impression seems to be pretty general tonight that it will be decorously suppressed without opposition, and that Mr. Calder will be renominated.

MILLER EASY WINNER

Gov. Miller, who is regarded by leaders in New York and other States as a potential candidate for the Presidency, will walk away with the renomination. The only opposition to him comes from a group of second-rate leaders supporting the claimant attorney, Newton.

The council of elder statesmen believes the time has come for injecting new blood in the Republican State organization.

Mr. Newton has held his office for nearly a year. Geographical and factional political reasons urged in opposition to him. One of these is that the party leaders intend to make a try at corralling the Irish Catholic vote by nominating for Lieutenant-Governor Col. Bill Miller of Erie county. He was not only a good soldier in France, but is a most convincing campaigner.

The Donovan nomination will necessarily sidetrack Lieut.-Gov. James Wood of Oyster Bay, who also has a renomination. The Roosevelt influence has again thrown back of Wood, but is not likely to result in a fight of the sort that the aggressive leader of the Rough Riders would have precipitated in a like situation.

REPUBLICANS CONFIDENT

Republicans gathered from sixty-one counties in the State do not appear to entertain the slightest doubt that Miller can beat any man the Democratic convention at Syracuse may finally designate to run against him. There is no question, but that Republican hopes of sweeping the Empire State in November with Mr. Miller as the standard bearer are due chiefly to the confused condition existing in the Democratic mind.

One of the outstanding features of the Republican situation revealed by discussion among convention delegates is the complete absence of anything approaching insurgency brought to the surface in some of the eastern States. Gov. Miller is properly described as a "liberal conservative," free from party bias.

Disraeli and strife that points to a finish fight between the insurgent Tammany leaders and Hearst faction probably will be the rule at Syracuse where the Democratic nomination is to be made. Ninety-nine of the 750 delegates in the Democratic convention will be former Gov. Al Smith as the standard bearer of their party against Gov. Miller.

The Hylan administration, which controls the payroll destinies of thousands of Tammany men, has last night.

PURKITT HEADS DEMOCRATS

Campaigns of Pearson and Woolwine Placed in Hands of Committee of Sixty-one Hopeful Bourbons

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Claude F. Purkitt, former State Senator of Willow, was unanimously elected chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee at an organization meeting here today. He succeeds David S. Ewing.

Randolph W. Whiting of San Francisco was selected by Purkitt as chairman of the executive committee of sixty-one members which will conduct the campaign for William J. Pearson and Thomas Lee Lee, the party candidates for United States Senator and Governor.

The State Central committee delegates from the eight counties south of the Tehachapi will constitute an auxiliary executive committee to assist the State-wide executive committee in its campaign work.

Other officers of the State central committee chosen here:

Secretary, H. G. Haffey, Los Angeles; first vice-chairman, Mrs. Katherine Bradlock, Stockton; second vice-chairman, Mrs. Carrie L. Hoyt, Berkeley; treasurer, William J. Hayes, Oakland.

COMMITTEE ENLARGED

—Although the point was raised that the law provided that the State central committee should be enlarged by the party convention at Sacramento, it was decided to add ten former service men and women from each congressional district to the committee, increasing its size from 51 to 61.

This was declared by Sidney M. Vanwyc of San Francisco, author of the plan, to be necessary because the committee seemed to be com-

WAGE RULE DISPUTE TESTIMONY FINISHED

RAIL LABOR BOARD HEARS SIGNALMAN AND CARRIER REPRESENTATIVES

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Presentation of testimony to the United States Railroad Labor Board in the wage and rules dispute involving the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen and forty-two carriers and subsidiaries ended late today at the conclusion of arguments by representatives of the Eastern, Southern and Western roads.

The union is seeking increases with differentials above for supervisory classes and a return of the eight-hour day.

John Higgins, western roads' spokesman, and John G. Miller, representative of the Eastern roads, confined their presentations to the two main issues—wages and rules.

Both denied that there have been significant changes in economic conditions since the last increase—July 1, 1922—to warrant increases in rates of pay or changes in working rules.

The union based its argument for wage increases on the need to attract men for similar work in other industries and the advanced cost of living.

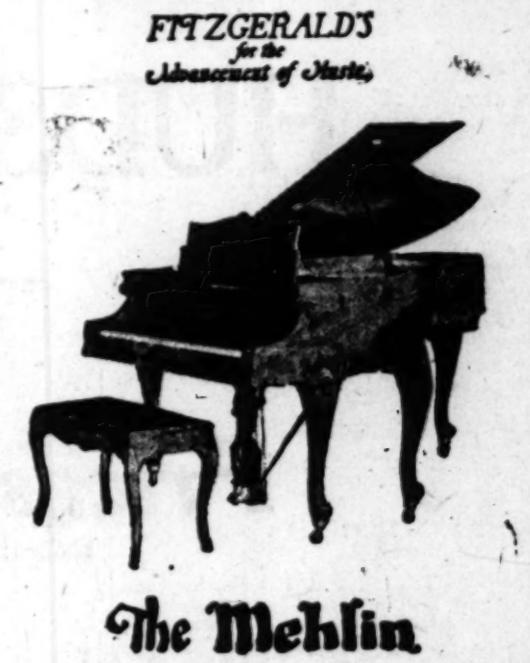

No intimation as to when the board would rule on its decision was forthcoming. However, it was considered possible that its finding will be made public in conjunction with or soon after its ruling in the maintenance of wage case—expected about October 1.

Thursday the board will hear the petition of the train dispatchers' organization on thirty-nine railroads and subsidiaries for changes in rules governing vacation and sick leave.

Just a Gamble

Agent: But, mum, it's a shame to let your husband's life insurance lapse.

Mrs. Bobbers (over wash tub): I'll not pay another penny! I've paid regular for eight years an' I've had no luck yet!

The Mehlins

Through the patented process of construction of the Mehlins, the full value of the tone beauties that are created in the marvelous scale of this piano reach the ear unimpeded—all the resonance and power, all the depth and volume to the last measure are secured. The result is, that there is a greater quantity and finer quality of tone, that marks the Mehlins as one of the truly fine pianos.

The Peerless Queen Anne

The Queen Anne Sonora is a master-work.

Like the great creative artists of the world, Sonora experts have concentrated on the soul of the phonograph. That soul is its tone, endlessly developed and perfected in the Sonora by subtle refinements through which the dead record is transformed into warm, life-like, pulsating sound.

By means of scientific experiments in the free use of wood—Nature's truest resonator—Sonora artisans have eliminated the shrill, harsh, nasal sounds long associated with most phonographs. The all-wood, laminated horn, made of from five to fifteen thick, cross-banded veneers, makes the Sonora rendition often more flawless than the original.

Hear the wonder-tone of the Queen Anne and other Sonora master-models.

DEATH CLAIMS "TOM" WATSON

Fiery Georgia Senator is Victim of Asthma

One-Time Populist Choice for President

Elected to Congress on Anti-
Wilson Talk

(PT A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Another powerful and picturesque figure passed from public life in the death today of Senator Thomas E. Watson of Georgia. His death, which occurred at 1:45 o'clock this morning, was sudden and unexpected, according to physicians, resulting from an attack of asthma. The Senator had been a sufferer for several years from the disease, and last Sunday experienced an acute attack.

Two physicians and a nurse were at the bedside when the end came, but the widow, who is in ill health, and her maid-servant were in the home in Thomaston, Ga., for which Mr. Watson had planned to depart today for the Congressional recess.

For forty years Senator Watson had been active in politics, a national as well as a state figure, and was nominated by the Populist party for President in 1904, after receiving its Vice-Presidential nomination in 1896. He was a Populist member of the House of Representatives in 1891-1893. In 1900 he was elected Senator, as he did in 1904. "Anti-war," "League of Nations" and antiwar measures" platform, defeating former Senator Hoke Smith and former Gov. Dorsey. He was 88 years old September 6, last, and his Senatorial term would have expired March 3, 1927.

FUNERAL AT HOME
The funeral will be held at Thomaston, Ga., after next Thursday afternoon or Friday morning. Senate aides are in charge and the funeral party will leave here tomorrow at 1:15 o'clock for Thomson.

Because of absence of Congress in the present recess of Congress, Vice-President Coolidge, Senator Cummins, Republican, president pro-tempore, and most of the Senate membership, there was difficulty today in arranging a committee to attend the funeral. Senators on the tentative list include Heflin, Alabama; Harrison, Mississippi; Dial, South Carolina; Shields, Tennessee, and Fletcher, Florida; Democrats; and Brandeis, Connecticut; New, and Shortridge, California; Eddie, Nevada; and Cameron, Arizona. Revived.

Senate flags were placed at half mast for a period of thirty days over the remains of the Senator and the Senate will adjourn out of respect when it reconvenes. A day also will be set for memorial services. President and Mrs. Harding headed those who professed condolences.

President Harding sent the following letter to Mrs. Watson:

"I just learned of the sudden and unexpected death of your distinguished husband. Senator Watson. Please accept my sympathy to you in this hour of great sorrow. Mrs. Harding asks me to include her in an expression of our most sincere condolence."

During the first year and a half of this term in the Senate to which he was elected in 1920 after receiving the nomination over Senator Hoke Smith and Gov. Hugh M. Dorsey, Senator Watson gave clear indication of any impairment of the vigor and activity which had marked his long career in politics and as a publisher. In his last speech in the Senate delivered on a week ago last Wednesday the Georgia Senator severely criticized the administration for its course in connection with the rail strike and the administration and most notably his charges of illegal hangings in the American Expeditionary Forces in the subject of extensive investigation. Senate committee had made him a conspicuous figure in the Senate body during his brief service there.

The body of the Senator was taken to his home in Georgia at 5 p.m. He had already made reservations on a train leaving at that time to spend the night in his home. He is survived by his widow and two grandchildren.

Born in Thomson, Ga., in 1855,

After serving served only a short time in the Senate, Senator Watson's oratory and fiery attacks upon legislation he opposed added to his national prominence attained in his home State. He was an historical expert, his Senate speeches being rich with incidents of history, particularly French, of which he was a great student. He was a strong advocate of a bonus for former service men and another of his strong policies was advocacy of release of men convicted during the war under the Espionage Act. He wrote President Harding and made many speeches favoring general amnesty for such persons.

ATLANTA (Ga.) Sept. 26.—When

Senator Thomas E. Watson in Washington came to the people of Georgia today as a shock. The State was unprepared for the sudden death of their junior Senator for it had been believed he understood he had recovered from the sickness which kept him from his seat in the Senate during the vote on President Harding's veto of the soldiers' bonus bill.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Experience of rail congestion and car shortages, caused by the shop-men's strike and the harvest traffic boom, is coming in from all sections of the country, the Asso-announced today. Little relief for shippers, particularly in the field of nonperishable goods and

November 1, it was said.

The association reported sig-

Marked activity in industry, which in this district is largely concerned with the primary handling of raw materials, continues, according to data reported to the Federal Reserve Board. Demand has increased for both skilled and unskilled labor, particularly farm workers, experienced copper miners, and skilled building trades artisans, a shortage of one or more of these classes of workmen having developed in a few sections. In one of the copper mining districts of Arizona, mining companies have recently announced a voluntary increase of 10 per cent in wages.

The lumber industry is 50 per cent more active than it was a year ago, and both domestic and foreign markets are buying in large quantities. The forest fire hazard, which has been particularly serious this year due to the long dry season, was dispelled by general rains during August, and logging activity increases immediately. Production of logs on September 1 was estimated to be 75 per cent of normal compared with 40 per cent on August 1. The value of all of the principal metals produced in this district, gold, silver, copper, lead and zinc, is shown by figures for July which are the latest available. Reports from the mining districts indicate demand for lumber and mining is contained in the reports of the principal electric power companies of the district.

In July, 1922, electric power companies in the Pacific Northwest increased their sales to the lumber industry to 26 per cent over July, 1921, and in the district as a whole sales to the mining industry were 38.7 per cent greater in July, 1922, than in July, 1921. Records of production and of stored stocks of petroleum in California average daily production of 82,522 barrels was the highest figure ever reached and stored stocks on September 1st, $4,272,159. The average weekly imports at any time in the past five years have been reduced to 20 cents per 100 pounds. What will follow can best be imagined. Los Angeles bids fair to rank next to San Francisco as the eastern and European markets. This year, effective August 25 and running to October 1, 1922, the freight rates on all goods except canned fruits from the port of Los Angeles have been in extraordinary volume. During the first four months the value of the exports was larger than during the entire year 1921 notwithstanding the fact that the exports in 1921 from August 22 to the end of the year were heavier than ever before in the history of the port of Los Angeles. In 1921 freight rates by water were reduced from $1.20 to $1.05 per 100 pounds, effective August 22, after which rates increased again. Barrington Says—

If you have enough money to that by lending it you will have an income as you desire, buying certain kinds of bonds will be good enough for you. But if you can't afford to acquire you must travel by the railroad for profit route.

Lending power for him who has his fortune to make; buying power for him who has made his fortune.

Money has its greatest earning power when it is put to work as capital, under conditions where it returns to us all IT EARNs. To get the very limit of its earning power its owner must work with it. To every one lending money a portion of its earnings must go. That is why money lends return to the lender an average of 7%.

FINANCIAL SECURITIES CORPORATION was formed to issue money and to loan it as near to the worker as possible so it is safe to do. We could get much closer to him and earn more, but the earning would be compensated by the risk taken. We intend to play safe and to pay for every risk, and in loaning our funds, do it only in a financial manner. This financial manner is extremely profitable one.

WHY ATHENS-ON-THE-HILL FOR OIL?

We hold in being drilled upon the advice of oil experts, and the large oil companies have leased property as near the WELL as possible.

THE WELL NOW DRILLING AT A DEPTH OF 3125 FEET.

We are now giving you the opportunity to purchase a few sections (or four lots to the acre), within a few feet of the well, the price of which includes cement sidewalks, improved streets and water.

REMEMBER THIS: Fortunes have been made and will be made by owners of land over an oil pool if land is held before the discovery of oil.

PLEASE UNDERSTAND THIS FULLY: We have absolutely the only lots that are included in the lease on the oil leases and near the well now drilling.

We reserve the right to withdraw the lots from the market and above the price without notice.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE]

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Lack of fresh buying power and renewed concern over the foreign situation encouraged professional short interest to great activity in today's stock market. Prices drifted downward, but generally within narrow limits. The selling movement was aided in its early stages by rather heavy offerings from western points. Domestic news was largely favorable.

Trading was again largely in the hands of professional interests. The lack of investment demand was explained as being due to the heavy tax payments of individuals to their commitments because of the threatening aspects of the Near Eastern situation and the uncertainty regarding the government's plan for refunding its short-term obligations maturing in the next few months.

Unconfirmed reports of capital readjustments and possibility of extra-dividend disbursements continued to have a favorable effect on Stock Oil securities. Standard of New Jersey, 10% 1/2 and Standard of California 3 1/4, Pan-American and California Petroleum also substantially bettered their positions.

Predictions that the August session would be the quietest of the year were not realized.

Atchison, Canadian Pacific, Northern Pacific, St. Paul, common and preferred, and Chicago and Northwestern also scored material recoveries. Other changes were largely fractional.

Some of the specialists moved against the prevailing current. Copper, copper up nearly two points and Jewel Tint, 1 1/2%. Dupont jumped up eight points and closed over of about 3000 shares. Total sales were $26,000 shares.

Call money opened and renewed at 4 1/2% per cent, but eased out to 4 at the close. The bond market also showed a tendency to ease, bankers who had been holding out for a 5 per cent rate for the longer maturities lending money today at 4 1/2%. The bulk of the smaller paper commanded 4 per cent. Foreign currencies were slightly irregular, but did not appear to reflect any serious concern over Near East developments. Sterling yielded slightly in response to another large offering of American bills against grain and cotton shipments, while the continental rates were inclined to harden.

RADIUM ONLY $90,000 GRAM

Earth's Costliest Product at Bargain Price

Annual Output Averages but Thirty-five Grams

Hard Commodity to Sell; Market Stronger

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

[Copyright, 1928, Public Ledger.]

NEW YORK, Sept. 24.—Radium, the costliest of earth's products, is cheaper today than it ever has been. It was $120,000 a gram until about six months ago. Now it is down to $90,000 in gram lots. Fractional parts of a gram of radium are quoted at the rate of $95,000 a gram. These prices are firm, however, and the trend of the market is upward, according to H. E. Bishop, Eastern manager of the Radium Company of Colorado, which is one of the exhibitors at the meeting of the American Electrotherapeutic Association in session in New York this week.

The annual production of radium of the last five years has averaged $1,000,000 a year. Sales are down at present, compared with six months ago, and there is relatively little on the market. This would indicate higher prices, but doctors and hospitals are short of money just now, and the demand has decreased on that account.

The general revival of business, however, which means more money for therapeutic purposes, the demand is likely to increase and prices advance.

Radium is the hardest thing in the world to sell, says Mr. Bishop, because it requires so much education and so much money to complete a sale. There is still some argument about the therapeutic value of radium. It is not a cure-all, but its supposed effect is acknowledged in certain diseases. Its field of use is being broadened steadily through scientific experiments.

HARD SELLER. Hospital boards and doctors first have to be "sold" on the curative value of radium. This takes some time and great expense of service and demonstration. After the customer is convinced, comes the matter of raising the money for the purchase of a gram or a fraction of a gram. The price includes a consignment line—expenses—costs in themselves—for its internal and external application.

The most precious gems are cheap beside radium. A rad is about as valuable as the most costly of all gems, is worth only $15,000 a gram in a stone weighing two carats. A 1 1/8-carat green diamond sells at the rate of $35,000 a gram; a 7 1/2-carat blue diamond, $34,250 a gram, and an eleven-carat yellow diamond at the rate of $11,000 a gram.

A ten-carat emerald is worth $30,000 a gram, an 11 1/2-carat ruby $22,500 a gram, and a 20-carat pearl $20,000 a gram.

But radium is not for adornment and it costs more to produce than anything that ever came out of the earth or the sea. It is six times more expensive than the ore in which it is found. More than 200 tons of ore are necessary to produce one gram of radium and, in the process, more than 200 tons of chemicals are used—one ton of chemicals for each ton of ore.

Virtually all the radium comes from Southwestern Colorado, and Southeastern Utah. The radium mines extend to 100 miles from the railroad, and are in one of the most desolate and barren mountain regions of the earth. The samples are so isolated that new men frequently go after the lost ones. Everything has to be carried in and out on the backs of burros. The only water is at the bottom of canyons 3000 feet deep, and ten or twenty miles from the camp, and the sources of supply are the springs tapped by the diamond drills.

Nothing Much to Report Today

Everything going fine and dandy. I'll have "SOME" grease for you mighty soon now.

BUT

Hurry if you have decided to place a bet on me and my two Wells on my six-acre lease.

AMERICANS ARE AIDING REFUGEES

Two Ships Chartered to Help in the Evacuation of Smyrna

BY GENE REEDLESS DISPATCH

(Oversight, 1929, Paris Lodge)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The American Relief organization at Smyrna has chartered two ships for the purpose of assisting in the evacuation of refugees from Smyrna and other points in the Near East, Rear-Admiral Bristol, American high commissioner at Constantinople, reported to the State Department today.

In addition to these ships, other American merchant vessels have been diverted to Smyrna and it is expected that they will soon be co-operating in the relief work.

Through the influence of the United States ten Greek vessels have been permitted by the Turkish Nationalist authorities to enter the harbor at Smyrna and are now engaged in transporting refugees. Most of the refugees are returning to the Italian island of Rhodes, the American destroyers assisting in the work. The Italian admiral in command of Italy's naval forces in Turkish waters made the first overtures to Mustapha Kemal regarding the opening of Greek ports to enter Smyrna Harbor, but Kemal stated at that time he would not take responsibility for allowing them to come in. It is understood that through the influence of Admiral Bristol, he was induced to permit the Greek and Nationalist authorities to permit the ships to participate in the work of evacuation.

The various American relief agencies operating in the Near East have been consolidated into one American Relief organization. The organization is carrying on relief work on a large scale, not only in Smyrna, but also in Rhodes and Mitylene. More than 20,000 rations are being issued daily. Flour and bread are being sent to Smyrna, Rhodes and Mitylene.

DENY PACT IS SOUGHT WITH CHINA

German Government and Admiral Hintze Ready With Disclaimers

BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

BERLIN, Sept. 26.—Both the government and Admiral Von Hintze, as could be expected, denied all knowledge of negotiations with Dr. Sun Yat Sen for French Licks Hotel in New York City. Saturday they will leave for French Licks.

"After Christmas we will go down to Paris," said.

Thorne and his bride are staying at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Katherine Thorne, 3314 Sheridan Road.

It was known he was laboring toward closer relations with the Soviet government — a striking change of front in view of his close connection with the old régime.

A personal envoy attached to the Czar's court during and following the first Russian revolution of 1905-6, but little further ever learned on concerning the nature of the negotiations.

The government consistently maintained he had no official status—a contention which became difficult to uphold after the admission he had been a member of the staff of Germany for the post of Ambassador to Moscow.

No hint of the Chinese, or rather the Sun Yat Sen end to these negotiations, was heard until the Public Ledger's Hong Kong correspondent uncovered the document. It was rather assumed that the Peking government, with which M. Tolichtchirin had been openly conducting negotiations, for many months past, had been under contract with Moscow and the Far Eastern republic, was Russia's proposed partner in any Russo-Chinese alliance.

King and Queen to See Royalty on the Screen

BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH

LONDON, Sept. 26.—King George V and Queen Mary will see a great many important events in the history of their immediate ancestors and a good many incidents which have occurred in their own lives in the course of a motion picture exhibition at Balmoral Castle.

British film producers, who have made a special hobby of recording the activities of the royal family for many years, were engaged by the Monarchs to bring "Through Three Reigns" to Balmoral.

Along with it will go an American production depicting the life of an Eskimo, while another picture of the British film producers, who are striving to catch up with American methods and who proclaim the British film as better. Nevertheless, they are anxious to offer an American exhibition buy about $8 per cent of their productions from American distributors.

SEIZURE OF EXPORT WHISKY PROTESTED

KENTUCKY FIRM DECLAIRES HAYNES OUT TO CHECK MEDICINAL ORDERS

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—Complaint that Ray A. Haynes, Commissioner of Prohibition, has attempted to set up a virtual embargo on exportation of medicinal whisky, and such Federal regulations as were submitted, under Federal regulation, was laid before Senator Blair of internal revenue today, by counsel for the Hill and Hill Distilling Company of the neighboring town of Elkhorn, Mr. Blair, as the attorney of Mr. Haynes, was requested to make an immediate investigation.

Seizure, September 22, at Portland, Ore., of about 1,000 cases of whisky, was of which, consisted by Hill and Hill to the National Bell Drug Company, Vancouver, B. C., was made the basis of the complaint.

Mr. Haynes, a member of the House of Representatives, it is believed, is responsible for the seizure of the whisky, although he did not take responsibility for allowing them to come in. It is understood that through the influence of Admiral Bristol, he was induced to permit the ships to participate in the work of evacuation.

ON BOARD S.S. CITY OF LOS ANGELES, Sept. 25.—The hospitality of Hawaii to her new neighbor, Los Angeles, has known no bounds. And today when the S.S. City of Los Angeles steamed from Honolulu Harbor with the returning excursionists, the docks were lined with island residents bidding a reluctant farewell, and twelve destroyers and hydroplanes escorted the big Los Angeles Steamship Company vessel out of the harbor.FOR A week this 262 Chamber of Commerce excursionists, including Mayor Crer and President Fredricks of the chamber, have been inspecting the islands and making trade connections, now possible because of the fortnightly Los Angeles Steamship Company installation with this vessel, the largest bottom under the American flag in the Pacific trade, and the S.R. POLICE SEEKING DEGENERATES*Long Beach Terrorized by Attack on GirlsAuthorities Declare Moral Perverts ResponsibleBelieve Same Men Robbed and Beat YouthBy a "Times" Staff Correspondent*

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
LONG BEACH, Sept. 26.—Two men, described by police as moral degenerates, who combine brutality and the robbing of youths with sadistic attacks upon young girls, are terrorizing young women of this city and parents are forbidding their daughters to go out alone at night.

Deputy sheriffs and police of Long Beach have combined in a hunt for the pair who, within two hours after their brutal attack upon Geraldine and Violet Gates, 13 and 6 years old, respectively, kidnapped 17-year-old Lester Boyce, carried him in the auto and, after robbing him, threw him out of the machine.

Police are of the opinion that one of the pair is the man who has terrorized girls in the eastern section of the city during the past few weeks by attacks upon unescorted women late at night.

Foiled in their attack upon the Gates girls, who were returning from school, the pair fled within limits, to the home of a friend on Dawson avenue, the pair fled amid a hail of bullets from the revolver of J. P. McGuire, a neighbor. Two hours later, the auto in which the Boyce youth was made within a few blocks of the scene of the first attack.

From descriptions furnished the police, the Gates girls and Lester Boyce, the former are convinced that the same pair figured in both attacks.

According to Boyce's story, he was at Linden avenue and Anaheim Boulevard some time after midnight when the pair came up behind him and trust him into a van and drove away at fast speed. Boyce's attacker left the "immature boy" near the flood control channel, and there, after attacking and robbing him of $3 and a valuable watch, thrust him from the car and fled.

Investigation of the attack upon the girl is being conducted by Deputy Sheriff Murphy Brower. Local police believe that the second attack, which occurred within the city limits of Long Beach.

man Wheeler declared that by their "unlawful actions" the policemen and firemen had deprived themselves and 6000 other city employees from receiving the benefits of a pension system.

Besides the general pension plan amendment, other proposed charter changes defeated were the request of the Library Commission to exempt revenues from taxation; an amendment placing the Chief of Police, who is now appointed by the Mayor, under civil service; and one placing the City Purchasing Agent in the civil service. Civil Service Commissioner Brown appeared before the Council and urged that the Chief of Police be placed under civil service, pointing out that from being a "political football" and pointed out that in thirteen years Los Angeles has had sixteen Chiefs of Police. He said that this record was disgraceful.

"While elementary school money cannot be used for high school purposes," said Mr. Bull, "we will have more space than we now have in the new elementary school building and no one will contend it would be illegal to lease a portion of the unused space to the high school district. While the county council has ruled that a elementary district cannot build a building for the purpose of renting it, we are not building it for such a purpose."

The John Muir junior high, Mr. Bull pointed out, is now owned by the elementary district and leased by the high school district. If any further bond issues were necessary, Mr. Bull said, he himself would oppose junior high schools.

He favored the proposal of the city for the taxpayers by making it unnecessary to enlarge the senior high.

The junior high question is to be settled by vote of the school district October 5.

ANNULMENT SOUGHT*Youthful Husband Lured Into Wedlock, He Says*

Lured by the talk of money and the promise of a musical education while still an "immature youth," William Lineweaver, Jr., married Miss Ethel Lineweaver in October, 1919.

Yesterday, having left the "immature years" behind, the husband sued for annulment of the marriage, charging that the promisor was false in his promises.

According to the youthful husband he was convinced that he should marry when he was promised an opera education in Italy. He charges that Mrs. Lineweaver, in return for his entire life was centered in music, used the promises as bait.

EL CENTRO, Sept. 26.—General better times and better business along all lines are noticeable throughout all Imperial Valley with the slight abatement of extreme hot weather, the return of residents from vacation and the general activity in preparing the soil for fall and winter crops.

New organizations, new forces along the valley are bringing an added interest to all local residents as well as hundreds of queries from outside sources regarding conditions and opportunities in the valley.

From the express office in California comes the tidings that business there is picking up. This in view of added facts obtainable from other points in the valley in conditions, a picture of general prosperity.

"Along the north wall sat the dancers, their masks laid aside. When the little fire-god danced in the center of the room no one raised his hand more than an hour and a half. Just as the morning star was rising, the music ceased, and the company became silent. The chief dancer was silent until the sun rose up the ladder to the roof, where, facing the east, he pronounced a solemn prayer to the waning sun of the old year."

At the moment of the terminating gyrations of the fire-dancer that scene, as installed by Miss Marguerite Tew, sculptor to the archaeological department of the Bureau of Ethnology, before the Shalilaka sit the musicians. Along the walls are the dancers, while in the center is the dancing figure of the Shalilaka. Behind him is the altar, its wooden tablets painted blue-green to symbolize the firmament. Every appearance of the altar is present—the fetishes, the decorations and the representations of medicine water and other materials used by the medicine man.

YOUTH FOUND GUILTY OF ROBBING ATTEMPT

*CONVICTED ON TWO COUNTS IN DAYLIGHT HOLD-UP ON BROADWAYBarry Gordon, one of three youths accused of attempting to rob Harry St. Alwyn, cashier for Harry St. Alwyn, cashier for the Service Bureau, a motion-picture concern, in daylight at Eleventh street and Broadway, stood trial yesterday. LONG BEACH, Sept. 26.—The day of the cider stand in Long Beach may pass soon, it was indicated at today's meeting of council, when application for license for three more stands on the Pikes evoked a storm of protest. Councilman Alexander Beck threatened to walk out of the council chamber if the new stands were granted.

The applications were opposed by Chief of Police McLendon, who was backed up in his stand by Councilmen Fred Phillips and James C. Morris. Morris declared that much of the drunkenness and disorderly conduct in Long Beach could be directly traced to the cider stands now in existence.

Motion to adjourn the matter was taken because of a threatened lack of a quorum in the event that Councilman Beck should withdraw.

It was hinted that an application may be launched and that all cider stands here may be abolished.

TO GIVE TIMELY TALKS

Whether or not woman suffrage has made good and the question of the impeachment of Atty.-Gen. Daugherty are two subjects listed for discussion by the Los Angeles Speakers' Club, which will meet to outline a program for the fall term on Friday evening in Music Hall, 232 South Hill street.

He will speak on the Pacific Coast with Lillian Russell's company. Prior to this his own opera company played annually here.

Besides his widow, a resident of New York, he leaves four children, three brothers. He has one son, William T. Carleton living at 1308 Whitley avenue, this city. Herbert Standing, the motion-picture actor, is his brother.

The "Big Scene" in Cement Making

The climax in the huge impersonal drama of cement making is the burning of the raw materials in great rotary kilns.

A good-sized kiln, set on end, would be taller than a 20-story building. A touring car could run through it.

The kilns are steel cylinders lined with fire brick. They rest at a slight angle from the horizontal on heavy rollers, and are driven by steel gears at half a revolution a minute. A medium-sized kiln weighs 275,000 pounds empty, and has foundations as heavy as for a 10-story building.

Into the upper end of the revolving kilns flow the finely ground materials for cement. There they meet a blast of burning pulverized coal, blown in at high pressure from an 8-inch jet at the opposite end.

Where the materials enter the kiln, the temperature is 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit or more. As they tumble over and over on their 3-hour journey through the kiln in the face of the flame, they rise gradually to a temperature of 2,500 to 3,000 degrees—more heat than is required for almost any other industrial process.

The workman, watching through his peephole in the end of the kiln, must wear smoked glasses. It is like looking at the sun.

And if you speak to him, you must shout close to his ear to be heard above the roar of the flames.

In a big cement plant, there will be a dozen or more of these kilns, rousing and revolving side by side in one great room.

A medium-sized kiln's output is 25 barrels an hour, and in that time 3,500 pounds of coal must be blown into it.

You may have seen the great smoke stacks in rows over a cement plant. There is a stack for every kiln, and four kilns make a medium-sized plant, with 3,000 barrels capacity a day or thereabouts. When you see four of these stacks together, you can know that enough coal or equivalent fuel is being burned in the kilns beneath to supply the electricity for the homes, streets, ships and industries of three ordinary cities of 20,000 inhabitants each.

In a certain town of 12,000 inhabitants there is a 4-kiln plant where the heat lost through the stacks, because of the great temperature and draft required, would, if it could be captured, supply three times the electric light and power used by all the rest of the town.

Burning cement, costly as it is, is only one of the heavy fuel consuming operations in cement making.

Every ton of cement you buy takes the equivalent of more than half a ton of coal in heat and power to make it—more than 200 pounds, that is, to the barrel of 376 pounds.

Given Divorce on Hard-Boiled Note of Wife

Many styles of letters pass between husband and wife when the marital ship is not sailing on an even keel, but the hard-boiled variety is not common.

The note of Ethel M. Powe, wrote her husband, Leo Powe, an exhibit in Judge Summerfield's court yesterday, is judiciously described as hard-boiled. It won't do.

"It seems to me that you do not understand plain English," read the note, dated Berkeley, June 22 last. "So much must plainer. I want a divorce and you better start it just quick."

I am through with you from now on. Don't write me any more, for I will not answer you.

"You better start something pretty darn quick. Have papers sent to my address and hold them over me. Makes little difference to me."

Mr. Powe declared to the court that his wife told him she did not love him. She had been married to him for six months, he said, and because of his armful compensation, and because her mother wanted her to. She often stayed away from home; once she went away and did not return for three months. He said he had to cook his own meals.

Three Asserted Funds Jugglers May Face Trial

Whether the county grand jury will take any action regarding the asserted operations in this State of Alva E. Smith, now awaiting trial in Yuma on a charge of wrecking banks at Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, Thomas a broker, and H. C. Stagg, a salesman, will probably be determined today. It was indicated yesterday.

The inquisitorial body has been investigating the case for over two weeks, having gone into what was declared to be an intricate system of exchange of cashiers' drafts on banks controlled by Smith.

The inquiry is being conducted by Dist.-Atty. Stanford, aided by John Knox, bank examiner of Oklahoma, where Smith is stated to have operated. It was stated that the investigation would probably end today.

CONTRACTOR JAILED ON FELONY CHARGE

Charged with suspicion of a felony, W. O. Beal, head of a Peoria Construction Company, was arrested at his home at 1421 Conard street yesterday by Detective Sergeant Lane and Investigator Diamond of the District Attorney's office. He was booked as a prisoner at the City Jail.

According to the officers, Mrs. Addie Dunlap of 4808 Holmes avenue, complained that Beal, after accepting $1,100 from her for the construction of a house failed to pay a certain number of bills and that the bills were afterwards referred to the officers. Warrants for Indicted Men Sent to Needles Hiram C. Todd, special assistant to Atty.-Gen. Daugherty, who was sent to the Pacific Coast to clear up the railway strike trouble involving a violation of federal law, left for the East yesterday.

He will make a personal report to his chief and then proceed to his home at Saratoga, Spring N. Y., where he will keep himself ready for the hearing of the eight striking employees of the Santa Fe Railway indicted by the Federal grand jury later.

The grand jury next week that Mr. Todd has here secured the conviction of the Santa Fe strikers, Joseph M. Stecklein, Albert O. Trautner and Thomas Brewer, for violation of the injunction issued by the court against the murderous attack on Thomas Timlin, an employee of the Santa Fe, at Needles. The latter refused to strike.

The grand jury next Monday will resume consideration of alleged violations of the Sherman antitrust law and the Federal penal code by the stoppage of trains at Seligman, Ariz., and Barstow. The inquiry will be the same as that of Atty.-Gen. Daugherty.

WARRANTS SENT OUT

Secret warrants for the arrest of eight indicted men were sent yesterday by U. S. Marshal Sittel to Needles, to be served by Deputy U. S. Marshal Montesone, who is in charge of the marshal's posse at that point.

It has been arranged that the men may give bond in the sum of $2500 each before a Justice of the peace acting as a United States commissioner, in Needles, who is to appear before Commissioner Phillips.

If they are unable to give bond they will be brought here and lodged in the County Jail. The first proceeding will be their arraignment on the charge of conspiring to interfere with interstate commerce and the transportation of passengers and the mails. Being under indictment there is no preliminary examination, and the defendants will have the opportunity to declare in open court whether or not they are guilty.

It is the intention of U. S. Dist.-Atty. Burke to expedite the hearing as rapidly as possible. The next term trial date is set for next Monday. It is possible that not all of the defendants will be ready to be arraigned at that time and have the date of the trial fixed. In that case, it is likely that the hearing will not take place until November 1, when the defendant is pied guilty, which is not considered probable.

"We intend to push the investigation of the railway strike and prosecute those charged with violation of federal law as fast as possible," said Mr. Burke, yesterday. "Quick work has made the program so far, and it will be continued."

Mr. Todd will have charge of the government's case when it is finally begun in the local Federal court.

HIGH HAY FINANCE CHARGED IN ACTION

DEALER IS HELD ON TWO CHARGES WHEN GROWERS SAY HE SWINDLED THEM

High finance in the hay market was charged to J. Miller, a dealer, yesterday when he appeared before Justice Follett on charges of grand larceny and embezzlement. He was held to answer on the two charges for the sum of $1,000 each.

Mr. Miller was held to answer on the charge of grand larceny and embezzlement.

Mr. Miller, 32, of 1200 1/2 Main street, Hillside, Ill., was accused of having taken $1,000 from the hay yard of Frank Pierce, E. P. and H. M. Hillside of Van Nuys.

Dist.-Atty. McDaniel indicated that the defendant bought the hay at about $16 from the complaining witness, and sold it for less at $15.64 from Frank Pierce and R. Tomatis of El Monte and 15.62 pounds of alfalfa hay valued at $162.98 from C. W. Pierce, E. P. and H. M. Hillside of Van Nuys.

WORKING GIRL LOSES COAT IN CAFETERIA; FRIEND ASKS FOR AID

If you had come from Chicago to live in the glorious Southland and you had secured a job in a cafeteria at a tone too regal salary and you had bought a $30 coat on the installment plan, and then don't look back and got away with your coat—wouldn't you be almost sorry you had left Chicago?

That was the experience of a young friend of Mrs. W. E. Palmer, 1131 Fullmer avenue, and Mrs. Palmer is not looking around to find another coat. She can't afford to give one to the unhappy young woman in question.

"She's a good girl," says Mrs. Palmer. "Her mother is unable to work and it takes the girl earnings to provide the necessities of life for herself and the mother. If anyone has a coat they think would fit the young woman—who is 27 years of age and weighs 120 pounds—I'd be glad if she would call me on the telephone."

BANKRUPTCY CASE

A petition was filed in the U. S. District Court yesterday against Claude C. Needham of Ventura, asking that he be declared a bankrupt. The petitioning creditors are the First National Bank and the Rubber Company, with claims of $441,448; Chanslor & Lyon Co. $69; and John H. Dielmann Company, $38.89.

A French marshal is crossing the Sahara Desert with a train of caterpillar tractors with the purpose of creating a railway system across the great sandy plain. He will begin with a motor route and gradually work up to the Pullman. First thing we know they will be making desert pictures in Baharia that look as natural as Ozzard.OVELY ZION
Three different preachers have been arrested in Zion City for different offenses. Voliva insists on having a monopoly of the place, so far as its religion is concerned. Preachers of other faiths will have to fight. One preacher was pinched for running a service until 10 o'clock, when the laws of Zion City prescribe that every citizen shall be in the bay at that hour. The dictator of Zion will permit no one to evade the code which he has established for the community. Zion is going to beation or he will know the reason why.THE TERRIBLE TURK
If the Turks could be kept away from the ammunition works they wouldn't be very dangerous. The man who sells a shooting iron to a Turk is the man who is to blame for trouble. The Turks are not very strong along industrial lines. It would be difficult for them to carry on a war if they had to make all their ammunition and produce their own tools of war. They are brave enough and make good soldiers, but the creative spirit is lacking. If they were wholly dependent upon themselves for all their agencies of warfare they would not be considered as a menace to Europe.THE BIG BALLOT
Speaking of marks the Los Angeles voter will have a chance to make more than 100 marks on the massive ballot that will be handed to him on election day. They will not all be easy marks, either. It is suspected that the ballot this fall will be greater than its predecessor and, therefore, the largest piece of voting equipment that the world has ever known. There will be a dozen city measures to be catalogued and described, to say nothing of the two state and more matters provided by petition or legislative suggestion. These, with the State, Congressional, judicial and legislative election, will furnish the intelligent voter ample excuse for asking a week off to study up the task before him.IT CAN'T BE DONE
They had a murder trial in Los Angeles the other day. It took less than an hour to swear in the jury. The evidence and arguments occupied less than five hours and the jurors were less than two hours in reaching a verdict. Yet it was a case in which there was much room for a division of opinion and in which the evidence indicated wide divergence. But it was a case in which Tony Estrada had killed Eduardo Murillo. There were no good women in the dock nor much publicity for counsel to be gained. So justice went into high gear and gave quick action. The jurors were chosen without the use of a single challenge on either side and were more efficient than if the lawyers had wrangled over them for a month. It shows what can be done—sometimes.THE LION'S WHISKERS
The Indian Bureau sends out a distress signal for 100 sets of sea lion's whiskers. Hunters and fishermen along the Pacific Coast are urged to barter every walrus that bobs up and send the proceeds to the Indian commissioner. It seems that the medicine men of the Pueblo think the whiskers are a fine thing to make masks for their tribal dances. When old Howling Wolf comes on the floor with a mustache taken from a venerable sea lion it sends a thrill through the whole wigwam. They even forget Charlie Chaplin or Snub Pollard in the excitement of the hour. But sea lions are scarce in the hills and so the chief sends to Washington for a requisition of whiskers along with the other supplies furnished by the government. That is why Uncle Sam wants all the fishermen from San Diego to Alaska to carry safety razors for the next few months. They want them to shave every lion or walrus that comes brawling across the path. Anybody having an unshaved seal on his premises will do well to send a postal card to Uncle Sam reciting the fact.SAN BERNARDINO WAKES UP
San Bernardino has finally seen the beacon light of justice and international freedom. Her citizens are emerging from the slough of despondency and doubt in which they were immersed when the railroad strike began. In a day of weakness many of the merchants and business men of the city permitted themselves to be intimidated by the threats and acts of violence of the strikers. They told the independent workers who had taken the places of the union men who downed tools that their trade was not wanted.

For a time the streets of San Bernardino were not safe for these workers. They were subjected to brutal assaults or were shot down from cover by gangs of strikers or strike sympathizers, and there was no police protection. Law had been replaced by violence.

Then it was that a stockade was built in the railroad yards and there the workers were housed and fed. Life was hard, but they were working for a principle, which appealed to them even stronger than their pay checks. Each was determined to exercise his right, under the Constitution to earn a living for himself and family. They endured the temporary hardships and stuck to the job.

Last Friday the municipal government and the citizens of San Bernardino generally were shamed out of their torpor and timidity by the courageous example set by these independent workmen. They went to the stockade in a body, more than 300 strong, and invited the workers to come out into the city, to secure lodgings in homes, to occupy cottages that had been vacated by the strike. The streets would be made safe for them, their patronage would be solicited by all the leading stores. They would be welcomed as desirable citizens of the community.

This was not an anonymous invitation. It was formally extended by the Mayor of San Bernardino, on behalf of the municipal government; by Sheriff Walter A. Shay, representing San Bernardino county, and by a committee from the Chamber of Commerce, speaking for the business men of the community.

The Sheriff told them that the gang which had been terrorizing the community had been dispersed, that the streets were safe for all law-abiding citizens and would be kept so.

San Bernardino's gallant Sheriff was roundly cheered. During the whole of the disturbances he had never flinched before the meanness of the lawless strike sympathizers. His presence in excellent health and his unwavering determination to enforce the law was an exemplification of the old adage that a threatened man, if he does not flinch, lives long.

Plots without number were concocted during the heat of the strike to take Sheriff Shay's life. But the plotters slunk away after once enduring the fearless eyes of eyes that never wavered, mirror of a heart that was a stranger to fear. They attacked him politically, carrying on a campaign of vilification and slander. He defied them to do their worst; and in the election, held a few weeks ago, he received one of the largest majorities ever given to a Sheriff in San Bernardino county.

Law and justice have resumed sway in San Bernardino. The challenge of the proponents of violence has been answered and the gangs are dispersed. The Times trusts that the lesson learned by the citizens of San Bernardino will not be soon forgotten; and that other communities will profit by San Bernardino's example.

Law-abiding communities have no quarrel with the labor unions, so long as the unions themselves are law-abiding. The right of workmen to organize for any lawful purpose is one that should not be and must not be abridged or denied. But a lawless act does not lose its criminal intent because it is committed by a member of a labor union. Any American citizen, any resident of the country possesses a right to work or to refuse to work at any given trade or occupation. Attorney Allison, representing the San Bernardino Chamber of Commerce, very truly said in his address to the independent workmen:

"When the time comes in free America that a man cannot follow a lawful vocation and earn a living for himself and his family, then the republic fails."

POLA NEGRÍ
Pola Negri's arrival in Los Angeles to play in American-made films is the biggest event in the industry today.

She comes acclaimed the greatest actress yet seen on the screen.

Her advent presages picture production of greater value than has yet come out of Hollywood: vital, living, subtle intense drama.

There is nothing of the naive schoolgirl about Negri, nothing of the Pollyanna, the baby vamp or the gaudy, artificial siren. In "Passion" as Bu Barry, in "Gypsy Blood" as Carmen, she has shown herself the very embodiment of the roles she plays, an absolute abandon to the part interpreted, with a faithful delineation of character detail and historic verity that has so far been reached by no other screen actress.

As Carmen, for instance, she was not the good-looking, silk-stockinged, hygienically-dashing charmer of Mary Garden or Geraldine Farrar, but the dirty, wicked, devilish, reckless, common Carmen of the author's intent. Not just Pola Negri, showing off her good points, but a low woman, with low attractions, soiled, brutal, mean, furtive, in coarse garments, with coarse manners and violent personality.

As Bu Barry she was not the accomplished, cultivated siren of Mrs. Leslie Carter or Brown Potter, but was the realistic embodiment of a common little milliner's assistant, who rose to be a king's mistress, with all the vanity, the sly scheming and duplicity and common attractiveness that history and human comprehension know must have been.

It is art of a kind that the screen has not yet found elsewhere, of a kind that will raise an "industry" to an "art." Indeed. She is, perhaps, about 30, young enough for beauty, old enough for experience and dramatic development. Formerly a dancer in a country that breeds fine dancers, she is essentially limousine and graceful and trained in the art of pantomime. But chiefly, essentially she knows life, knows human nature—and knows women.

For such an actress suitable dramatic vehicles are necessary—great drama, sub-drama, tragic drama. Even the most gorgeous settings are but accessories to her art, not the essential bulwarks. In the role of Belladonna, the wicked and depraved heroine of Robert Hichens's novel, which could so easily be transformed into a banal vamp drama of the old type by a pretentious parvenu young film star from Red Gap, she may be counted upon to bring a cosmopolitan experience replete with verity. Mrs. Patrick Campbell made this role famous on the stage. Pola Negri stands alone as the actress who could portray it in pictures.

It has been said, with a suspicion of plausibility, that one of the secrets of the fame of Bernhardt and Duse was their private exclusiveness, combined with the fact that they played roles which the average woman in daily life rarely fills, and therefore stirred the imagination of the public with an interest outside their own experience. The actress who plays modern "realism" role comes too well within the critical ability of average modern people—and familiarity breeds contempt.

But if the fame of Negri rests on any such exclusiveness and the unusual roles she has played to date, Hollywood press agents can be trusted to dispel a good deal of that illusion. Pola will get all kinds of publicity in the United States and beyond the limits of our airplane and decide that here was a peaceful place, that it couldn't be anything but peaceful with the blue California sky hanging over it and the great granite hills embracing it and the cool waters of the Pacific washing its shores.

It will not be sufficient for Williamson county to hold a grand-jury investigation to make a few indictments and to hold a well-conducted trial of the defendants, to mildly punish a few and exonerate the rest. If Williamson county is still a part of the United States, if it still operates under the Constitution, if it still has the honor and credit of its country at heart it will be highly necessary that the brutal, vicious and criminal culprits responsible for the dastardly tragedy are all sought, found and punished with the utmost severity of the law.

The shame and brutality of that dread day cannot be quietly disposed of by a grand-stand imitation of justice. Williamson county must find and punish all the responsible criminals to the utmost extent of its capacity if it wants to resume citizenship in these United States and enjoy the privileges and repose that go with it.

It is highly improbable that the sympathy with the perpetrators, the callousness displayed in the first excitement of the massacre has completely vanished from Williamson county. The country may be excused for seeing little but a belated discretion in the tardy action taken by some other bug or bird or beastie.

And

A fellow might take a squat at the bugs scampering about in his back yard and think, here is peace,

But

If he was to look a little closer and watch them for a while he'd find that every individual bug there was in constant danger of instant annihilation by some other bug or bird or beastie.

And

He says you might take a glass of water and look in it clear depths and say, here is peace,

But

If you'd turn a microscope on it, you'd find the darning a bug there was in constant danger of instant annihilation by some other bug or bird or beastie.

And

The only get my daily paper second-hand—husband brings it home from the office at night.

Everything is in the cheap, little house I'm second-hand—house which I bought at an auction sale. A prosperous friend gave me the draperies—slightly faded on one side.

I've even got my club second-hand," she continued bitterly.

"My friends graciously admit me to special programs on their guest tickets. For the rest I imbibe every bit of culture that comes my way, through other people's lips.

The only new things I can ever buy are the 'slightly-damaged' bargains: things that are show-offs, that have been pawned over, that nobody else wants. If they are clothes they are never my style, my color, my personality—always make-it-do.

"Yes, we have a Ford—and that was second-hand, too. Some one else had the best out of that. The piano—oh, yes. Aunt Mabel sent it to us when she returned.

"I could have afforded the other day when the landlord, with much uncouth, agreed to give me a new bathtub. Now! Of course, it was an old one, picked up from a wrecking company. Nothing new could ever come my way. Why, I firmly believe that if I had to have a new tooth put in, the dentist would just naturally pull somebody old one on me.

"Bloody and shoot! Oh, those always have to be 'factory seconds' if they are not second-hand and out of style. Underwear!

Oh, they have to be made out of 'damaged-by-fire' remnants, peeling coats out of old second-hand skirts.

Oh, yes, I could buy cheap new materials for the same price—but, you see, these second-hand bargains I am used to are generally good quality; they have given me a most inconvenient taste for quality."

I also read other romances telling of the gallant escapades of Bonnie Dundee and formed quite an admiration for him and recited a poem about him and his bonnets at the Dry Creek Literary Society once upon a time.

Later I learned that Claverhouse and Dundee were one.

What shall be said of the lot of the poor diamond miner?

It's hard luck if he finds them and hard luck if he doesn't.

Biffie Lale says this here Mus-tapha Khan is a wonderful man, all right, and one week we see his in the newspaper in a first-hand rôle and the next week he is smooth-shaven and the fourth week he has a full beard again, and if he ever loses out in Anatolia he has a great little future before him in this country telling the barbers what shall he do it.

"And I have tried earning my own living. What sort of jobs can I get? Second-hand jobs all the time—jobs to love other people's babies, to cook other people's meals, to slave for other people's parties, to keep other people's houses clean. That's all I seem to fit in—second-hand clothes, second-hand babies, second-hand babies."

"And so I shall probably marry this second-hand husband and continue to be a second-hand wife. And the irony of it, even his work is second-hand. He works in the department of a large firm. I told him I would marry him tomorrow if he could only get promoted to the 'new' department—but he is, they say, a first-class second-hand man."

Well, what can one say to that sort of a martyr? I did my best, I reminded her that all those nice, rich people who live in grand hotels are certainly enjoying "used" furniture, "used" beds and bedding, "used" table napery and all.

And quite a number of our very nice people pay perfectly awful prices for considerably "used" antiques and old books.

That's all of us, get our education and our wives from second-hand parents.

And, as for second-hand spouses, well, really there is quite a voice for them and she seems to be in the very pink of style in that regard.

Of course, she does seem to have rather an overdose of this second-hand stuff. But, even if her clothes were second-hand, the wrong colour, the wrong style, she seems to have been attractive enough to acquire at least one lover.

And a few girls marry their first loves, their virgin loves, as it were—even the village belle did it on the evidence.

And she admits that she had second-hand quality, as distinct from new trash. That is something.

Perhaps Mr. James Openheim could peach the lady and reveal to her her "hidden powers."

THAT SECOND-

HAND MARTYR

BY ALMA WHITAKER
Life, she assured me, had been one long, second-hand blight for her.

There was a wealth of murder-murders registered all over her head as the cut strings of a parcel that had just been delivered.

"Another second-hand gift," she snorted scornfully, "another half-worn suit for me to finish out. More of somebody else's cast-offs considered plenty good enough for me. Another letter of 'gratitude' to me to write, another benevolent insult for me to swallow."

"Do you know?" she said, presently, "that I have a second-hand hand all my life. I have never known what it was to have something new, specially for me. It began when I was a baby—my mother was poor, so I was cradled in a tawdry, second-hand cradle, swathed in second-hand baby clothes. As a little girl my clothes were always made over—out of something of Mother's. My school clothes were second-hand. My shoes were second-hand baby boots, second-hand highchair. Even the things we bought had to be picked up at second-hand stores. And when she died we buried her in a second-hand coffin and had one that had been reused by a wealthy family.

"And when I married it was the jilted lover of the village belle, caught in the rebound. And our home was furnished with the second-hand furniture his mother gave us. And when the baby came we were just poor enough to buy a second-hand baby clothes, second-hand cradles, second-hand baby buggy, second-hand highchair. Even the things we bought had to be picked up at second-hand stores. And when she died we buried her in a second-hand coffin and had one that had been reused by a wealthy family.

"And when I came down to earth and investigated he'd find a plumb full of war, the commercial war that we call business, and the industrial war that we call capital and labor, and the political war that we call primary and general elections.

Long Beach to Demand Lower
Rate for Gas

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Sept. 24.—Steps that the city authorities hope will either give the city of Long Beach possession of the local plant of the Southern Counties' Gas Company, or force that company to give this city lower gas rates, were taken today by the City Council.

Acting upon representations made by the Hotel and Apartment Houses' Association and other organizations of this city, the Council instructed City Manager C. E.
Hawes and the City Attorney to investigate and report within thirty days on the proper course to pursue in securing a lower rate.

"The time has come to do one thing or the other," said Councilman Frank Downey. "We must have either a reduction in rates or take over the company's plants and operate it as a public enterprise." He told the Council.

Councilman Downs and others in the Council chamber were free in their criticism of the quality of gas being furnished Long Beach consumers and asserted that the gas was not good enough to burn in both the gas and the company. "It should be squeezed out of both," he said.

Consumers here are paying from $2 cents to $1 as against a much lower rate in Los Angeles, it is charged.

Third Generation is Using Syrup Pepsin

No other laxative can replace Dr. Caldwell's in the confidence of those who use it.

THERE are thousands of healthy, relaxed persons men and women who have never in all their lives taken any other laxative for constipation than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Their parents were given it by their parents; the grandparents are using it today. It is the one laxative ideally suited to all the family. Safe, for the little ones, effective in growing-ups, so safe that slender persons who are constantly forced to take a laxative because the intestinal muscles are weakening, find increased dosage unnecessary. This wonderful constipation remedy has been used continuously for 30 years, and over 10 million bottles are now sold annually, the largest selling family laxative in the world. The cost averages but a cent a dose. Every druggist sells it, and under a guarantee to do as claimed or your money will be refunded.

Millions of carefully conducted homes are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Millions of carefully conducted homes are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Thousands of parents and worthy leaders that concern in the family may use it to keep themselves fit. I will freely supply a liberal free sample. Write, addressed for an answer. Wm. B. Caldwell, 212 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois. Do it now!

Mr. J. B. Belk of Shaw, Miss., relies on it entirely to keep his children in health, and Mrs. Catherine Connolly of Jersey City, N. J., declares that not only herself, but all her neighbors and friends use it and tell others about it. There is scarcely a day that someone in a family does not need it for constipation, flatulence, auto-intoxication, biliousness, intestinal poisoning, headaches, colic and cramps, and to break up fevers and colds.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a scientifically-balanced compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. The formula is on the market for the safety of increases, the public discards the harsher physics like calomel, castor in candy form, salt waters and powders. Upon his return from conferences with railway officials of San Francisco and Salt Lake City, Manager J. A. McNaughton of the Los Angeles Union Stockyards yesterday announced the conclusion of traffic agreements with the various truck-line railroads that meet the Union Stockyards at the "Union Station" for all live stock shipped into Los Angeles. Many thousands of dollars will be saved to shippers and to the industry at large. Mr. McNaughton stated by these new agreements on freight rates which put the stockyards into a position to give broad service to shippers of live stock.

The opening date is Oct. 1, the opening date of the Los Angeles Union Stockyards, on interstate shipments and effective October 25, on shipments of live stock within the state. All live stock originates on all railroads, including the Pacific Electric. It is announced, will apply to and from the Los Angeles Union Stockyards without extra switching charges. Plans are already under way for an expedited service to this terminal.

TO SPEED SHIPMENTS

The Los Angeles Union Stockyards, together with its twin development project, the Central Manufacturing District of Los Angeles, will have its own belt-line railroad, the Los Angeles Junction Railway, which is to serve as a connecting link with all trunk lines in order to expedite shipments to and from the districts. For the benefit of the industries within the area there will be established a freight distributing and receiving depot with in the industrial area.

More than enormous sums have been saved annually to the live-stock industry in switching charges heretofore paid by individual packing plants. McNaughton states, but these will be eliminated in the avoidance of delays incident to the delivery of live-stock shipment to each of these plants.

It is announced that the Los Angeles Union Stockyards have been established as a market by the railroads through their agreement to pay the cost of loading and unloading all live stock which herebefore has been at the expense of the industry.

MANY CATTLE SHIPPED

This ruling is expected to encourage to a great extent the shipping of large numbers of feed cattle from northern points to Imperial Valley, inasmuch as the cattle may be rested and fed at the stockyards en route without extra charges for loading and unloading. It is estimated that 50,000 cattle are shipped into Imperial Valley to be fed annually and of these 30,000 are from northern points and 20,000 from points east of Los Angeles.

Another important detail is the granting of the market privileges by the railroads. This is given to all shippers where the Los Angeles central market is between the point of shipment and final destination. Thus the shipment of cattle from Arizona to San Francisco could be stopped in Los Angeles to try the market before proceeding. This privilege, Mr. McNaughton says, will be broadly explained and given practical application when though many out-of-line hauls may be involved.

ATTORNEY'S WIFE WINS CASE AGAINST FORMER SHIP PROPRIETOR

Mrs. Genevieve Schenck, wife of Attorney Paul Schenck, has won a judgment of $2000 against J. B. Covington, former proprietor of the Ship Cafe, for money loaned. The case was tried by Judge York several weeks ago, the judgment being rendered last week.

The suit against Mr. Covington was brought by Richard Kittrell, a law partner of Mr. Schenck, who held Mrs. Schenck's assigned claim.

Mrs. Schenck declared that she had advanced Mr. Covington a sum of money and advanced him $2000 more when he pleaded with her to give him the suit case. Mr. Covington admitted that the money was advanced to be put in the business. If he made money, she shared in the profits.

EVIDENCE CONFLICTS

IN ROW OVER FENCE

PLAINTIFF SAYS NEIGHBOR CHOPPED IT DOWN; NO VERDICT GIVEN

Holding that the wealth of conflicting testimony made a verdict impossible, Attorney W. C. Schenck, sitting for Judge J. Perry Wood, yesterday refused to allow damages to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Neiman for the purported destruction of a fence they said belonged to them. The fence, they charged, was built by them and was chopped down by their next-door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. B. Shuker.

According to the testimony of Mr. Yarush, a fence was built by him on or near his property line on Main Street. Mr. and Mrs. Shuker, he claims, cut down the fence, then while his husband carried it away. The defense contend that the fence fell as a result of a wind that blew it down on their property. In order to get it out of the way they chopped it up and carried it off, they said.

On the official opening of the University of Southern California yesterday morning, the whole of the student body assembled in the auditorium for the first chapel of the term. The board of trustees was present to look over the new enrollment and several noted educators from all parts of the country also were on the platform.

Dr. R. B. Von KleinSmid, president, gave an address of welcome and his brother, Vice President, Dr. George Von KleinSmid, presented the incoming freshmen. In his talk the president emphasized the need of friendship between all of the students in a school of this size.

The University of Southern California, he stated, has set a standard of scholarship of the university always had been high, and he hoped that the freshmen would live up to the standard which had been set in former years.

BOARD IS PRESENT

All of the members of the board of trustees, the governing body of the school, were introduced to the students by the president.

A number of the new instructors who will be teaching in the plateau before were given a chance to see the assembled student body and the students were formally introduced to them.

The entire group of the governing body present were: Dr. George Finley Boyard, president emeritus; J. E. Carr, Dean Healey, Thomas Crommiller, Frederick Watson, William Gandy, Dr. Frank French.

The Bow and Arrow dance will be but one feature of this performance, which will present only Indians. An original Indian play by Chief Geronimo White, written by Edith Morage, will be presented.

The proceeds of the entertainment are to be used for the sick and needy.

Many social affairs

A number of social affairs were announced by the student body president, Duane Hayes, in his address.

A reception is to be held in the parlor of Boyard Hall this afternoon to which all of the parents of the students are invited.

The Y.M.C.A. gave the first of a series of teas for all of the girls on the campus yesterday afternoon, and a large number of the fair attendees attended.

The first event of the year is to be held Thursday night in the auditorium of the university, when Dr. Von KleinSmid calls a rally for the whole student body and gives the freshman the name of honor.

The meeting is to be held in the parlor of Boyard Hall this afternoon to which all of the parents of the students are invited.

AIRPLANES ASSURED RESERVES

Government Will Stock New Aviation Field at Santa Monica

That the new aviation field at Santa Monica will become an active unit for the use of reserve officers of the Army Air Service was emphasized at a dinner Monday evening at the Plaza Hotel attended by a group of Air Service reserve officers, who have been successful in their efforts to have personnel and equipment assigned to the new field.

On the completion of two hangars the San Francisco headquarters assured the local flyers, men and planes will be assigned to the local stations. The planes will be used for the use of the reserve officers.

Representative Linsenberg was guest at the dinner, as was Lt. Col. J. F. Richmond, in charge of the organization section of this district. Both spoke agreeing that the future of the nation depended largely upon the solidify and accomplishments of the organization.

An invitation was extended to all organized reserves to attend a meeting and dinner of the Association of the Army of the United States in the Union League Club on October 10, at which Col. Holbrook, chief of staff of the Ninth Corps Area, is expected to speak.

Monday's dinner was attended by

Gen. James L. Gifford, John K. Nisley, Charles N. Bush,

Theodore B. Coulter, William P. Finlay, Raymond Godbe, Roy S. Gracie, Joseph R. Hargrove, Robert E. Kennedy, Robert M. Lloyd, Alvin W. McNamee, Donald A. Odell, and Harold A. White.

DAVIS LINES UP GAME

Lincoln Grid Mentor Finally Lands a Contest With Santa Ana for Friday

After trying all means possible to make arrangements with Spud Morrison, Coach Tommy Davis finally succeeded in scheduling a practice game with the Santa Ana Bear Cats for Friday afternoon on the Lincoln gridiron.

In meeting the Bear Cats Davis knew that his squad is going up against a pretty well balanced team and in order to win, his men must be in perfect condition. Therefore he has been working the squad late every evening.

Tommy doesn't know just who will start Friday's games because of the good showings that some of his men made in the San Pedro games last week.

Because of the wonderful showing that "Red" Hassenauer made, Coach Tommy Davis will probably start him at fullback. The 180-pound guard who has been out of school until last week, will probably be given a chance to show his wares, as will Rebinovich.

The only positions that are not worrying Davis, as he has a pretty good set of backfield men in Pete Tamm, Jimmy McCue, George Dwyer and Maurice Munyon. Tamm, who was a candidate for all-city fullback last season, will do the kicking and passing, while Dwyer will handle the signal job. Dwyer and Munyon will start at half.

Andy Smith Puts Bruins Through Traces for Santa Clara Contest

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE

BERKELEY, Sept. 26.—Head Coach Andy Smith and his assistants are working hard to strengthen the University of California football team for its first appearance for the opening game here next Saturday against the University of Santa Clara.

Neither the coaches nor students are optimistic about the Bearcats' chances Saturday night, but the freshman team, though it has been beaten by the sophomore team for about fifteen minutes. Later the varsity strengthened and held the Babies.

For the past two seasons California has had a stone wall line, but the new coach has taken every veteran from tackle to tackle. Several second-string backfield men are being drilled for line positions.

When Renate Gardini, Italian heavyweight contender, took on Champion Ed (Strangler) Lewis in a finish match at San Francisco last night an eager spectator was Promoter Umberto Rovere, who is said to be one of the world's big fellows for his next wrestling show at the Hollywood American Legion stadium.

Gardini gets one end of the main event, but his opponent will be selected from either "Strongman" Eddie Coddington or Jim Londos. Ad Santel is also in the field to meet the spirited Italian.

Either Joe Stecher or Earl Coddington seems to have preference to meet Gardini. Both are wonderful crowd-pullers and are sure to draw a big gate.

Siki Gets a Tempting Offer From Rickard

POOR GEORGES ON THE SHELF

Carpentier to Stick Around House for Month

Champion Siki a Big Hero in La Belle Paris

Blows Jack at Montmartre and is Now Broke

(BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Now that Georges Carpentier is likely to be confined to his house for a month and that he may be out of the prize ring for good, his conqueror, Battling Siki, from available signs threatens to become so omnipotent that one heartily wishes some real American fighter would take his measure.

Happily, French nature refuses to take even an obnoxious negro man with a white face too seriously so while the press still is filled with more fight comments than either political or reparations it is already in a lighter and sarsaparilla-colored vein.

HIS DAILY MAID

Today's get-together gives us the Siki's daily maid since he became the world's light heavyweight champion. It quotes a letter from a cinema director who addresses the negro as "Dear Old Pa."

After deciding to have viewed the match he is convinced the negro is sufficiently photogenic to triumph in the movies provided the entire action of the piece takes place in a tunnel.

The next letter is from Mme. Mistinguette to "Dear Old Pa" that new champion do a musical hall act with her.

"You don't know how to dance but that does not matter, I'll give you lessons and we can open a new dancing palace and shimmy hall," she writes.

A letter from an old colonial soldier congratulates the Senegalese on being a French citizen despite the fact that he has taken a dip in the Atlantic Ocean and is now a "either American or British," while the final letter from an important business friend offers millions if they may immediately advertise "Siki Fireless Cookers and Siki Camerons."

IS PLAT SHROUDED

Siki, conqueror of Georges Carpentier, has broken his two triumphant nights under the bright lights of the Montmartre.

The whole $152, his share of the purse, has taken the count.

With Siki's lack of starvation by small "touches," with an intangible fortune in the shape of fight, theatrical and movie offers, there is no telling but what more than a million dollars will be available to him in the champion's engagements from America, England and Australia today summing the jungles boy more than Carpenter's famous $100,000.

Siki's magnificent wins this summer represented Lady Luck's most magnificent bounty to this simple-minded African terror. Four years ago when the Siki of yesterday was fighting in the champion's ring, he was clinching with German machine guns for a cent daily.

O'BRIEN SUSPENDED BY RING COMMISSION

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

MILWAUKEE (Wis.) Sept. 26.—Tommy O'Brien, Los Angeles lightweight boxer, today was suspended for three months by the Wisconsin Boxing Commission as a result of his fight against the local boxer, Walter Houlehan. The charges were the outgrowth of the recent Mitchell-O'Brien bout.

O'Brien was adjudged guilty of holding, clinching and tripping.

Has the ring developed a dangerous freak or does the victory of Battling Siki over Georges Carpentier merely go to prove that the late Jersey City affair between Dempsey and Carpentier was a well-staged hippodrome?

Opinion probably will remain divided on this point until the Senegalese meets and defeats an opponent of undoubted ability, or falls before such an opponent.

Those who were in France have no lingering doubt as to the ability of the Negroes or Senegalese to fight along certain primordial lines, particularly with weapons of their own choice, but whether they could combat real boxing science or even restrain themselves to fight within the lines of the real code of the ring is another and debatable matter.

Descriptions of Battling Siki so far have been rather hazy and somewhat conflicting. Several places he is depicted as a giant, and yet his weight is specifically given at 170 pounds. Also, in one account reference was made to the ripple of his powerful muscles under a copper-colored skin.

It is difficult to reconcile that description with the Senegalese soldiers seen in France. They were black, if such a thing is possible, darker than coal. They were so black that it almost hurt your eyes to look at them. It didn't seem possible that could be a human head, but rather something chiseled out of hardened pitch. And the face was as inaccurate, except for furtive eyes, as though it had been sculptured.

If Siki is copper-colored, or a mulatto shade, it is difficult to believe that he is of the straight Senegalese strain, and very recently out of the jungle, although it is just possible there are color shadings in that tribe which we did not note among the soldiers.

unquestionably, these Senegalese were the most picturesque soldiers on the west front. One day a party of us met a regiment of Senegalese infantry moving up toward the front-line trenches, over a wide, winding road.

Most of them seemed of medium height, compact and powerfully built, with broad shoulders and long arms. They had a short, curly beard lying close to the more coal-black cheeks and chin, which, with the French steel helmet clamped to the round head and the long French spear-like bayonet, brought back visions of Ethiopian warriors of old, or suggested a scene plucked from one of the fantastic world's created by Rider Haggard.

My temptation to take a snap of one of these marching Senegalese was considerable, but a French Lieutenant advised against it. There were many stories regarding the blind fury of these troops in action, and trouble which their officers experienced in keeping them within reasonable bounds.

However, under normal conditions they seemed amenable to discipline, and at times almost docile.

One night at Dijon about 1 o'clock in the morning there was a scene of indescribable confusion. A big drive was on. Immense numbers of troops were moving to the front by train, others were returning from the trenches together with considerable quantities of German prisoners. The big game was struggling with soldiers of every description and all these were lined up with troops having various uniforms. A Johns Negro had suddenly changed his mind about going to the front. He had broken away from his company and was pursued down the platform by a French noncommissioned officer. He dodged in and out between trains. At every turn the French non-com would cut him with the open hand, more of a slap than a blow, and finally in the way he had run he would fall. The Johns Negro seemed more like a scared rabbit, and yet they told weird tales of how these troops craved the ears of their enemy as souvenirs, and had to be restrained by force from indulging in this fat.

Ringside accounts from Paris tell of Carpentier three times sending Siki to his knees with hard rights to the jaw. Indicating that he hasn't much defense. Had Dempsey or Wills delivered those three rights to the nose or even two of them, in all probability Siki would have stayed down.

However, Siki's style might prove troublesome to any fighter, and ruin some good knuckles. He is described as crouching close to the floor when he comes in. This would leave nothing except the top of his thick head to be hit. In short, his head serves the part of a turtle's tough shell.

DUCK SEASON TO OPEN

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)

TORONTO (Ont.) Sept. 26.—Harry Grab of Pittsburgh, American light-heavyweight boxing champion, declared here tonight he was ready to fight Battling Siki.

Grab, who is the most popular boxer in Canada, said he would meet Siki in any time, anywhere, for "any reasonable amount of money."

Grab had three offers already to meet Siki.

Grab asserted, "and to all of them I have replied that I am ready to talk business as soon as he signs a contract."

DUCK SEASON TO OPEN

(Game Galore Awaits Nimrods Who Will Launch Drive Next Sunday Throughout State

Another hunting season is to be turned loose among the Southland shooters next Sunday morning at the well-known time of a half hour before sunrise. The 1932 season on ducks is to be open throughout the State, and from the way Pete Peterson, game authority of the E. H. Dyas company, speaks, the game is more than plentiful.

Not only ducks, but the law says that migratory birds, which includes geese, brant, jacksnipe and mudhens may be killed. For over a month flight after flight of ducks have been coming south. The majority of the flights have been made up of sprig.

The lakes near Los Angeles are covered with the game. The local shooters will commence leaving next Friday to be on hand for the opening. Elizabeth Lake, Big Bear, Baldwin, Buena Vista, Moreno, Cuyamaca, Sweetwater and Elsinor Lakes will be the popular hunting grounds for the quack quacker.

Outside of the lake and the many duck clubs, the salt-water marshes in back of Sunset Beach, Manhattan Beach and Belmont, the marsh at Del Rey, will be good hunting grounds. The limit on ducks is twenty-five birds a day or fifty in one week.

After next Sunday, but one more week remains to be opened for the 1932 season. This year the season for quail will be with us on November 1. By that time, however, two seasons now open will be closed. The dove season begins on October 21, and the deer season throughout the Platea closes on October 15.

Nationally Advertised Lines

have given this store a twelve-fold increase in sales in six years

Six years ago the Birch-Smith Furniture Co., of Los Angeles, had decided to capitalize the money invested in national advertising by well-known manufacturers.

The store adopted as a slogan "The Home of Nationally Advertised Goods" and began to carry every well-advertised line in its field.

"The Advertising in local newspapers has transformed from... advertisements to powerful and steady featuring of nationally advertised goods, by name. In its current advertisement it is found such copy as this:

"Come in and see how true life are the advertisements you have enjoyed in your Saturday Evening Post."

"For many years we have endeavored to carry only lines that have stood the test of national popularity. Thus by such, at our business has developed over the years. We now carry over 500 lines, and over 1500 nationally advertised lines, made of wood, antiques, etc. in Southern California."

More and more retailers everywhere are putting this kind of support behind advertised lines. The manufacturer who wants this kind of support for his sales may find it interesting to discuss ways and means with us.

Every statement made by the Advertisers in the Great National Magazines must be proved before their advertising is accepted. Hence, it follows that Nationally Advertised Goods are the Most Dependable.

They are invariably guaranteed by The Manufacturer.

So great is the demand for Nationally Advertised Goods that they are manufactured in quantities to permit the most economical distribution to The Purchaser.

These are among the reasons why the Birch-Smith Furniture Company, after twenty years of service, are selling over fifty Nationally Advertised Lines for many of which they are the exclusive agents in Southern California.

Who's Who Among Women Appears Here

Many Angelinos Receive Due Mention

Birthday of Confederate to be Observed

BY MYRA NYE

An authoritative review of the activities in civic, social, athletic, philanthropic, art, music, literary and dramatic circles of women throughout the State is set forth in the first issue of "Who's Who Among the Women of California," which made its appearance in the city yesterday.

Lois E. Lyons is editor of the book and Josephine Wilson, a newspaper woman of San Francisco, is the acting editor. The volume lists the names of 780 members of the 780 clubs in the state to the number of nearly 60,000, and is illustrated.

WOMEN FEATURED

Among the women of this community who are mentioned are: Mrs. Robert J. Bartette, California State Director; General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Billie Hill Brooks, past president of the Women's University Club; Mrs. Herbert A. Cable, former president of the California Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Marion Hulbert Ted, past president of the Woman's Club of Los Angeles; Mrs. Henry T. Wright, past president of the Woman's Club of Glendale; Mrs. John J. O'Brien, chairman of literature of the Friday Morning Club; Mrs. J. B. Stearna, past president of the Woman's City Club; Mrs. F. W. Pugh, past president of the Wednesday Morning Club; Mrs. Harriet Williams Myers, president of Highland Park Club, and of the General Federation of Women's City Teachers' Club; Mrs. Madel D. Greer, president of Cosmos Club; Mrs. J. T. Anderson, past president of the American Music Optimists; Mrs. Ruthie Lincoln Morris, president of the local branch League of American Pen-women; Mrs. Andrew S. Lobinger, president of the Friday Morning Club; Mrs. Anna L. Lenneman, president of the Women's League Club; and others.

All of these have contributed to the book and their reproduced photographs appear.

They are an earnest, sincere, intelligent group—these California women," says the acting editor in the forward. Their loyalty to

RABIES (HYDROPHOBIA)

Hydrophobia is an acute, specific, communicable disease which can affect all warm-blooded animals. Dogs, on account of their roving habits, are chief disseminators of it.

The disease is transmitted usually by bites of animals which are actually diseased at the time, only. There is a rather widely prevalent idea that a person bitten by a dog may develop hydrophobia because the person bitten should happen to acquire the disease. That is not true. The disease is transmitted only if the dog actually has the disease at the time that it bites the person.

On account of the law in the United States regarding the muzzling of dogs, hydrophobia frequently becomes an active danger. This increase can be attributed largely to the sentimental, well-meaning but misguided so-called dog lovers who actively work against the passage of all muzzling laws.

Hydrophobia is caused by a minute protozoan, the loupe, which is microscopic and cannot be seen with the naked eye. It is known as the Negri bodies, from their discoverer.

If you should show a change of disposition, becoming melancholy or depressed, or should become afraid to touch, taste, or smell, and begin to bite and swallow sticks and stones or other foreign bodies, be immediately suspicious of him and seek medical advice at once.

Do not kill him even though he should bite some one, but keep him under lock and key and see if he develops the disease. It would be manifested in ten days according to Rosanna.

The bite from any dog, however, should immediately be treated. The usual local treatment is to tie a ligature above the bite, and give a free respiration.

Hydrophobia is said to be the most令人可怕的 disease known, and the only disease we know of which when contracted is practically always fatal, unless treated.

However, there are more than 100 cases which have been successfully treated.

Not all bites from a dog will transmit the disease. Only thirty per cent if you are bitten by a dog or cat will have the disease; nine-tenths of the disease is disseminated by dogs.

RAILWAY TICKET SCALPERS HIT

Two Convicted and Fined in Police Court

Victims Are Left Penniless by Crooks

Offenders to be Prosecuted, Says Official

The war on railway ticket scalpers was strengthened yesterday with the conviction of two men accused of selling half-portions of nontransferable excursion tickets. The convicted men were J. R. Schutte and Frank Benjamin, who were fined $100 each and given a 100-day suspended sentence by Police Judge Chambers.

The two convictions are only the fourth and fifth arrests to follow, according to Henry A. Koch, assistant to the chairman of the Railway Ticket Protective Bureau, who has a corps of inspectors investigating scalping conditions in California.

In a letter to the Chamber of Commerce asking that organization co-operate in combating scalping, Koch said: "If the railway companies are not protected it may never be possible to obtain reasonable excursion fares to Southern California."

HEADQUARTERS HERE

"Los Angeles has been the headquarters for these scalpers who have banded together for mutual interest," said Mr. Koch, "and we have had hundreds of thousands of these return excursion tickets through the medium of blind advertisements and by sending their cappers, both men and women, to various parts of the country, places where strangers are personally solicited to buy or sell cheap railroad tickets."

"Numerous complaints are received daily from tourists persons who have been induced to buy these tickets only to find that frequently the original name signed on tickets has been erased and that the tickets were sold with the claim that they had arrived without signature."

"All tickets are now carefully examined on all trains at each division and while some may pass one or two divisions, few of these are held over to the next which to their destinations without passengers being compelled to pay their railroad fare."

JAIL FOR SCALPERS

"Both men and women have been left almost penniless by these sharks who make any promise and give any guarantee which will enable them to sell the fraudulently obtained tickets. These self-styled ticket agents, operators should and will be most vigorously prosecuted and the business interests should be made to realize that ticket scalping is a menace to the public welfare."

"Those who use a scalper's ticket or endeavor to ride on a ticket bearing the name of someone else, must lie, must forge the name of someone else, must commit mail fraud to succeed. Ticket scalping is dishonest, a menace to morals."

Revenue Force Still Tracing Income Taxes

Collector Glodell yesterday announced that the intensive drive of the combined revenue field forces under instructions from Washington would be continued without interruption until Feb. 1, 1923.

Verification will be made of approximately 12,000 personal income tax returns, which for various reasons require explanation on the part of the taxpayer.

The checking of the returns will also apply to corporations of diverse types, individuals and partnerships showing salaries of $1000 or more paid to individuals.

The list of persons who filed incomplete returns will be used to see if the dividends and salaries paid by corporations to individuals have been listed by the latter for taxation.

Enquiries will be made of all real estate transfers and checks made to verify returns filed as to profit and loss in such transactions.

While the collector is acting under orders from Washington, he has directed field deputies to make their investigations with a minimum of annoyance to taxpayers.

Mack South is Dangerous Man, Court Asserts

Stating that Mack South, accused of having with intent to murder J. Everett Brown, a local attorney, was a dangerous man to be allowed at large, Justice Follett yesterday held South to answer and fined him $20,000. While acting as his own attorney, South asserted he was justified in his act and that he intended to get out.

South was once an inmate of Folsom State Prison and was absent about a year ago. When he returned to Los Angeles, he is said to have hunted for Mr. Brown and shot him as the attorney walked along the street.

Mack South attacked a prisoner in the County Jail and cut him over the right eye with a piece of tin he had managed to obtain. He was then taken to the psychiatric ward of the County Hospital.

"TIGHT" WAD FINDS A WAY TO BEAT THE BOWL!

PENURIOUS SNOW

NOTE: "The Times" Daily Wad Comic-Strip Contests Has Been Discontinued Until Further Notice
The Wad family, whose daily adventures in Los Angeles have amused Times readers for the past year, during which time more than $1000 has been paid in prizes for available ideas for the Wad strip, demands a vacation. Its members point to the fact that more things of a strenuous nature have happened to them in the past twelve months than to any other family in Los Angeles and they insist upon a rest. Watt and Elva are going East to college, and Gunn has to go to school. Mr. Wad is taking Mrs. Wad and the baby to Honolulu, and Tight says he will go along if Mr. Wad pays his way, not otherwise. For these reasons the contests have been discontinued for the present. The prize-winning ideas submitted during the last week and possibly a few others will appear in this space.

FLASHESWITWER STORIES*R-C TO PRODUCE "FIGHTING BLOOD" TALES

By Grace Kingsley

High art in motion pictures as exemplified at the Robertson-Cole studios is to receive another wallop this week when the R-C starts production at said studios on the first of a series of six "Fighting Blood" stories by H. C. Witwer. The stories are now running in Collier's Weekly.

George O'Hare is to appear in the title role of Gale Galen, with Clara Horton playing the leading feminine role of Judy. The supporting cast includes Arthur Rankin, John Hubbard, William Courtright, Albert Cooke, Ena Gregory and Mabel Van Buren. Each of the stories will be filmed in two reels.

There is no series of fiction stories written in recent years so adequately presents the true American progressive spirit as these popular yarns of the roadside by America's foremost humorist of the square circle.

The author will co-operate in the making of the series. Beatrice Van, who has recently created scenes for such productions as "Carrie" and "One Man in the Making," Boris Maye's "Gay and Devilish," and others, is writing the continuity.

George O'Hare, who has just finished an important role in a Shirley Mason production at the Fox studios, tentatively titled "Shirley of the Circus," has begun his career at the Sennett studio.

"Humming Bird" Cast

Mauds Fulton has put her husband to work. Miss Fulton is the author-star of "The Humming Bird," now playing the title rôle. The star is increasing in popularity. Robert Ober, Miss Fulton's matinee idol husband, has been appearing in pictures, but when Harland Tucker left the leading rôle of the play, Mr. Ober, having just finished "Silent Day," originally stepped into Miss Fulton's spot.

Other changes in the cast include Miss Marvin in the rôle recently vacated by Marie Walcamp, and Henry Hall in another important rôle.

Elinor Fair Takes Pen in Hand

The clever young Elinor Fair writes us all the way from New York that she is going yet farther away. Miss Fair leaves on Thursday for Cuba after which she will go to Miami, Fla. Miss Fair is not going alone. She will travel as ingenue for an independent picture concern headed by J. P. McGowan.

All the time we haven't been hearing from Miss Fair, who has been busy playing the lead in Charles Brabin's first production, made on his own in New York.

Emma Carus in Trouble

Poor Emma Carus and her vaudeville partner, Walter Lee, had, themselves in a troublesome situation according to their eastern offices just received. Beach warrants have been issued for the comedienne and her partner the first time they appear in Illinois by Municipal Court Judge Lawrence Jacobs of Chicago.

According to the reports, the bench warrants are issued because of failure of Miss Carus and her accomplice to appear in court for a hearing yesterday, when a fine and costs imposed upon them for an assault committed by them or an assault alleged to have been committed by them on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Newman at the Sherman Hotel on August 2, last.

Louise Fazenda Busy

Louise Fazenda's life is one picture after another since she returned from New York. She has been busy for several weeks as co-star in "Heavy Metal and Damned" by F. Scott Fitzgerald, under production at the Warner Brothers studio.

Dances for Orpheus

We keep on gathering in the good dances from afar. Now it's Germanine Mitty and Eugene Tillio, hailed as France's greatest dancers, who have arrived in this country for the Orpheum tour, which begins October 1st and continues early next year. On their vaudeville debut in the East they were received with great enthusiasm, and a sensational success, the Ziegfeld Follies of 1920, following which engagement they returned to Paris.

Elinor Wants to Boss

Under Miss Glyn can direct her own pictures in this country, she is going to keep her dollars and stay home. Anyway that's what she says.

John of "Three Weeks" who is now in Paris, says as much in a letter just received by Abraham Lehr, Goldwyn's vice-president in charge of production.

John of "Three Weeks" finished the direction of atmospheric scenes to be used in her newest photoplay, "Six Days," to be filmed by Goldwyn.

These were taken in the gardens of the famous hotel, and the actors were her friends in social life. Fink, the famous Italian aviator, a Spanish Duchess and other notables were used as extras.

It was learned that an English company is bidding for Mrs. Glyn's services, but she has not yet decided to accept this offer.

"I shall never," writes Mrs. Glyn, "forget the breezy eighteen months I spent there."

Bebe is Being Scolded

Colleid film may be all right, but when it comes to having one's daughter and son record the deathbed scene, that's just the kitten's mittens, says Bebe Daniels, who is now sitting for a statue being made by Carlo Garofalo, a master of the medium of wax and a sculptor who has reached particular eminence in the field of Italian pictures.

A FAMILY PICTURE

Rupert Hughes' latest picture made by the Goldwyn Company should be seen and enjoyed by every member of the family. It is called "Remembrance," and it is the new hand-wound product at the California Theater. The story deals with just such a family as can be found in any American city—a family that has achieved social and financial success, and is brought out with an ambitious flourish. Only the father, "Poor Old Pop," the man who built up a small business into a successful department store, remains to be unsculptured. Pop is expected to work and pay the bills while the rest of the family have a good time. This is the situation when he collapses under the strain and suffers an illness that threatens his life.

Her First Pose as an AuntiePLAYDOM*WILL FILM SKETCH*WILLARD MACK'S "THE RAT" TO BE PICTURIZED

A vaudeville sketch transcribed for detail to the picture screen is promised as an innovation in cameradom. The sketch is "The Rat," written by Willard Mack, author of many plays and playlets, and the producers who put it up on celluloid are the Sawyer-Lubin combination, running through Metre. They have just finished the picturization of "Quincy Adams Sawyer," and the film version of "The Rat" is immediately to follow.

Of course, everybody who has followed the making of pictures, knows that a single vaudeville sketch rarely contains enough material to make a feature. A few scenes are used, but generally not with whelping success. The Willard Mack sketch is not regarded as being above the ordinary. There is another story which provides the fame, the sketch being the central picture. Its plot is in fact, to afford the climax.

The cast has not as yet been selected, but Clarence Badger, who directed "Quincy Adams Sawyer," will act in that capacity again or the near future.

"Alice Adams" Picture

Very interesting indeed is the news that Florence Vidor is to have as her next story for the screen that recent popular book, Booth Tarkington's "Alice Adams." This was the novel which won the Pulitzer prize for the best American book in 1920. It affords Miss Vidor one of the best opportunities she has recently had.

The picture is to be made under the supervision of King Vidor, but he himself will not direct.

Lauchness for Peke

A luncheon at which Peke Negri was guest of honor, was given by the Famous Players-Lasky studio for newspaper, magazine and trade press representatives yesterday at the Ambassador Hotel.

John Flynn, manager of foreign distribution and exploitation, was toastmaster of the occasion, and Jesse L. Lasky, vice-president, and George Fitzmaurice, who is to direct Miss Negri in her first feature, "Bella Donna," spoke words of welcome to the star.

TERRORISTS FIRE BRIDGE

San Bernardino Officers in Determined Man Hunt

Seek Men Who Burglarized Powder Magazine

Oil-Soaked Timbers Reveal Origin of Blaze

(EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)
SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 24.—An concentrated drive by county, city and Federal officers to capture terrorists, who, shortly before dawn this morning, set fire to a Santa Fe Railway bridge and stole fifty pounds of gunpowder and kegs of black powder from scattered explosive magazines near the city began tonight.

Officers patrolled the city in automobiles.

The burning bridge, a wooden structure, on the Santa Fe's long line to Redlands and Highland, was discovered at 2:15 o'clock by depot sheriff. The determined arsonists extinguished the flames before the bridge was destroyed. Kerosene-soaked timbers removed all doubt as to the origin of the fire.

Last afternoon proprietors of the George M. Wilson and San Bernardino hardware companies reported to Sheriff W. A. Shay that the magazines south of the city, in general, had been burglarized during the night. Heavy padlocks were cut off the magazines and the doors left standing open.

It was apparent that the robbers were hunting caps and fuses, neither of which are stored in the magazines.

Late Sunday night the home of J. F. Wessendorf, a Santa Fe machinist, was rocked by an explosion in his yard. Mrs. Wessendorf, in a critical condition, suffered greatly from shock. Officers are positive that the bombers were responsible for the theft of the explosives this morning.

TO SERVE SENTENCE IN FEDERAL PRISON

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
SAN DIEGO, Sept. 26.—James R. Hennessy, local commercial aviator, and W. W. Youngblood, San Diego newspaperman, both charged yesterday to serve fifteen months in the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, and to pay a fine of $400 following their conviction of conspiracy to smuggle liquor from Mexico into the United States by air-mail.

According to Ortes, young Moreno and his cousin, Andrew Moreno, apparently under the influence of liquor or Marijuana, had much disturbance in the vicinity of his home last night by the repeated firing of revolvers and other unseemly conduct that he finally armed himself with a shotgun and proceeded to take the guns away from the youths. This alternate was shot in the back when he turned to run.

Young Moreno was rushed to the hospital by his father, James Moreno, and Dr. A. L. Welsh, summoned. His condition is reported grave. Complaint for the arrest of Ortes was sworn to by the boy's father. Ortes made no attempt to escape after the shooting.

Right rates. Hotel del Coronado.

TO BUILD BIG CLUB FOR NAVY

Y.M.C.A. to Spend Big Sum for Service Men, Statement at San Diego

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 26.—Announcement that the Army-Navy branch of the international committee of the Y.M.C.A. had offered $400,000 to apply on the cost of an Army-Navy clubhouse for service men here, was made a matter of news to 200 business men today. To secure this out-right gift, San Diego is required to provide a suitable location. Options have been obtained on a block of land in town which the San Diego Fire Department is being valued at $150,000.

Decision of the international committee to erect a recreational and social service building for service men here was made after investigation of other naval concentration points on the West Coast.

The approaching completion of the naval training station which will share the $400,000 will add 2,000 "gobs" to this city and the constant addition to the enlisted personnel of the ships and other naval stations, is given as the reason for building elsewhere.

The building, which will be of Spanish colonial architecture, will be six stories high with sleeping accommodation for nearly 600 men. Mt. Wilson Observatory, and other scientific meetings, and getting a general survey of European conditions especially from a scientific point of view.

PINE EQUIPMENT

When the new equipment arrives Dr. Millikan said, the Caltech laboratory will be as well equipped as any in Europe with which he is familiar.

Dr. Millikan went abroad in several capacities. He was foreign secretary of the National Academy of Science, chairman of the division of foreign relations of the National Research Council, and first American exchange professor under the Fondation Universitaire of Belgium.

Between May 10 and July 1, Dr. Millikan said, he delivered twenty-eight lectures in the universities of Ghent, Liège, Louvain and Brussels. Some of these were on general topics in which he sketched the development of American ideals and described American educational institutions, and the remainder were on scientific topics.

The interest of the Belgians in these lectures was very gratifying, he said. The average attendance was about 400 and never drew between 400 and 500.

IMPORTANT MEETINGS

Dr. Millikan attended meetings of the International Union of Radio Telegraphy, the International Union of Pure and Applied Chemistry, the International Union of Applied Physics, and the International Research Council.

The meeting of the League of Nations commission on International Co-operation took place the first week in August. Prof. Henri Bergson of Paris was president of the commission and Prof. Gilbert Murray of Cambridge was vice-president. Dr. Hale's health, Dr. Millikan said, was somewhat uncertain, so Dr. Millikan acted as his alternate at the sessions.

Dr. Hale finds difficulty in getting time to go to the meetings, Dr. Millikan "with the result that the rest he is taking is not doing him as much good as it might."

Between August 15 and Sept. 10, Dr. Millikan traveled with his family through northern Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Austria, Belgium, Holland and England, having as his aim the collection of research data on the work done in the Norman Bridge laboratory of physics and the high tension laboratory now being erected.

High tension experiments are being pursued energetically in Switzerland, France and Germany, Dr. Millikan said, "but they are handicapped by the difficult financial situation as is all work that requires costly equipment."

The pursuit of methods of breaking down atoms and releasing atomic energy, which will be one of the objects of the high tension laboratory, is being done in Europe also Dr. Millikan said.

STUDIES POLITICS

Dr. Millikan said he had formed no conclusions as to the European political situation, but did not care to comment along these lines at this time.

Dr. Millikan left Pasadena April 1 and stopped off for a time at Kelly Field, Texas, where millions were sent up with self-registering apparatus and gave data on electrical conditions at high altitudes.

Dr. Hale was assured Dr. Millikan had a height of ten miles, about twice as high as had been secured in any previous experiments of the same nature.

The results of these experiments are not yet ready for publication.

Dr. Millikan then attended the meetings of the National Academy of Science and the National Research Council in Washington, and sailed for Europe Aug. 19. With Dr. H. D. Lorentz, who lectured during the past winter at California Institute of Technology.

FOUNDATION FUND

The Fondation Universitaire of Belgium, under which Dr. Millikan lectured, is financed from funds left over in the hands of the Commission for the Relief of Belgium at the time of the armistice, amounting to about $17,000,000, which was divided into three funds, of which the four principal Belgian universities received about $17,000,000 for reconstruction, the Fondation Universitaire about $4,000,000 and an American foundation to establish scholarships for Belgians in American universities and Americans in Belgian universities. Dr. Millikan, a distinguished Belgian historian, has just landed in New York as the first Belgian exchange professor. Dr. Millikan said, and will lecture in several American institutions the coming winter.

EDUCATOR BACK TO CALIFORNIA

Dr. Millikan Returns from European Trip

Buys Elaborate Equipment for Caltech

Delivers Lectures at Foreign Universities

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

PASADENA, Sept. 26.—Dr. Robert A. Millikan, chairman of the executive council of California Institute of Technology, returned today disappointed to find that Congress, in his absence, had levied a 45 per cent duty on scientific apparatus, and the equipment he brought from Europe for Caltech's new high tension laboratory will cost much more than was expected by the time it lands here. Heretofore educational institutions have been allowed to import such things duty-free.

Dr. Millikan was in Europe from May 16 to September 8, lecturing in Belgian universities, attending the meeting of the research council of the League of Nations at Geneva, to Dr. George E.
